Cameras and Films Seized on Waterfront

Provincial police constables yesterday afternoon seized 14 cameras and seven films from persons who were photographing scenes from the Esquimalt Lagoon. This was the first wholesale seizure of cameras in this area. Whether prosecutions will follow has not been decided.

Several of the photographers professed ignorance of the military laws which prohibit the taking of pictures on the shoreline between Sooke and Sidney, while others admitted knowledge of them, but thought they might get away with it.

Hundreds of sightseers visited Esquimalt Lagoon yesterday, and late in the day constables at the southern and northern entrances stopped all cars entering and leaving and asked if the passengers had cameras. Another constable patrolled the beach and made similar requests of those sitting in groups. In some cases the cameras were taken, but when the camera showed the film had been almost completely exposed the film was taken.

The military regulations prevent the taking of a picture from the sea to shore, or from the shore to sea at any point between Sooke and Sidney. As a matter of fact it is not permissible to take pictures of picnics on the beach, or children bathing. If pictures are wanted the parties should move to the bank of the beach and the exposure made away from the sea. This regulation, however, has not been pressed.

Some of the persons caught with cameras yesterday were sailors and soldiers. One movie camera was taken from an officer. Persons caught with cameras can be arrested and placed in prison.

U.S. Watches Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States made its future diplomatic relations with the Vichy government contingent on decisions taken today at the meeting of Marshal Petain's cabinet.

Relations would be severed, it was reported, if the Vichy government accedes to the latest Nazi collaboration demands and permits the Nazis the "share" they seek in defending the French Empire.

This possibility caused conjecture whether the United States might then extend recognition to the Free French forces of Gen.

Charles de Gaulle—a step which de Gaulle's believe would rebound psychologically to the benefit of their cause in most of the French possessions. The State Department, however, held to its noncommittal attitude on the subject.

Regardless of what happens on this particular point, the belief in diplomatic circles was that the United States would adopt a vigorous counter policy against any Vichy-Berlin collaboration program promising to install Nazi forces in the strategic bases on the Atlantic sea coast of French African colonies.

Gas Sales Dropping

"Cash and carry" gasoline regulations have helped bring a definite drop in consumption of the precious motor fuel in the Victoria region, service station men said today.

Individual operators reported reductions in their sales for the first nine days of August ranging from 15 per cent to as high as 50 per cent in one case.

Victorians were slow to answer Ottawa's first appeal for gas conservation but unofficial figures gathered today indicated the restricted hours of sale, plus the "cash on the line" rule, have now made the motoring public gas conscious.

Total sales figures for the city cannot be obtained yet but all stations report decreases in varying degrees.

MORE PASSENGERS PER CAR
Around town yesterday there was concrete evidence motorists are taking the save gas appeal seriously. On the beautiful August afternoon when people usually joyride off to lakes and beaches the Dallas waterfront was jammed with cars which had traveled only a short distance. Collectively there must have been a large saving. Noticeable, too, was the fact that most of the cars carried a full load of passengers, instead of just two or three.

On the Mill Bay Ferry there was a toponotch example. Three lads on motorcycles took the ferry to save the extra nine miles over the Malahat.

"It cuts down gas consumption," they said. Ferry operators have noticed an increase in the travel from motorists with the same idea.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P. today issued an appeal to motorists to cut still further. The government, he noted, had asked for a 50 per cent reduction and he warned that rationing is a natural consequence if the appeal is not met.

Work Planned At Cathedral

Work will proceed on the erection of part of the southwest tower of Christ Church Cathedral, according to an announcement today by Bishop Sexton.

"The directors of the Christ Church Cathedral Buildings Ltd., after careful consideration, and with the approval of those good people who donated most of the money in hand, have decided to proceed with the erection of the first part of the southwest tower and the permanent steps leading to the main entrance," the Bishop said.

"A contract has been entered into calling for the expenditure of $14,500, the whole of which sum has already been donated or subscribed for the building of the cathedral and cannot legally be diverted for any other purpose. One of the chief reasons why the board of directors of Christ Church Cathedral Buildings Ltd. has decided to carry building operations a stage further is the fact that the cast stone, which has lain on its present site for about 12 years, and is valued at $5,000, is liable to serious deterioration through continued exposure to the weather.

"The materials to be used are not likely to be required for war purposes, and it is understood that men liable for military duty and war industries will not be employed. The undertaking which will give employment to the older men, already familiar with work of this kind, has been duly approved by the controlling authority at Ottawa.

"The new portion will be high enough to complete the southwest porch."

URGES DELIVERIES BE CURTAILED

TORONTO (CP)—The federal oil controller, G. R. Cottrell, urged today that reduction in the number of deliveries by merchants in every line of business be made. He asked merchants "in all lines of business throughout Canada to immediately organize to reduce delivery services to one per day."

Cottrell further suggested purchasers carry parcels on all possible occasions or arrange to have them delivered on the next convenient delivery of the merchant.

No Diplomatic Bag

LONDON (CP) — Japan no longer is permitted to send a "diplomatic bag" periodically from Cairo, it was learned today, because it has been reported to contain important information on the Middle East for the Axis. The Japanese consul at Port Said was arrested some time ago for taking photographs after a raid on the Suez Canal zone.

Final Bulletins

Victoria Gunners Knock Down Nazi

LONDON (CP) — A Canadian anti-aircraft gun crew knocked a Junkers 88 from the sky a few nights ago, it was revealed today by the Ministry of Information.

The gunners, from Victoria and Vancouver, spotted the big, black plane in a searchlight beam.

Gnr. Alex Watson fired three shots, the plane showered sparks, burst into flames—then plunged into the sea off the coast.

The detachment of Canadian troops manning the guns has been in Britain only a few months and this was their first action. The Junkers appeared in their area just before they were scheduled to start 48 hours' leave.

Among those in the detachments were: Bdr. Broach of Victoria; Gnr. L. H. Underwood and Gnr. R. Underwood, sons of Major E. B. Underwood of Work Point Barracks, Victoria.

RUSSIAN CAVALRY THROWN INTO FIGHT

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet cavalry under the famed horseman, Marshal Semeon Budenny, has been thrown en masse into the Ukraine fighting, a front-line dispatch in Pravda reported today, riding swiftly to the hottest sectors and then dismounting to fight as infantry.

Weygand Quits Vichy

VICHY, France (AP) — Gen. Maxime Weygand, Vichy's North African pro-consul, returned to North Africa from Vichy today without attending a cabinet meeting on the military situation in territories under his jurisdiction.

It was announced there is little likelihood of announcement in the near future of "any important decision relating to foreign policy."

The Paris press had hinted that the cabinet would decide to ask Axis aid to reinforce defences in north-west Africa.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roy Clendenning, 33, well-known Vancouver skier, is believed to have been lost when a vessel on which he was an assistant engineer was sunk July 18, according to word received here today by his father, W. G. Clendenning.

Strike Vote Friday

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP) — R. H. Carlin, secretary of the Kirkland Lake Mine and Mill Workers' Union, said today the membership has instructed the executive of the union to conduct a strike vote on Friday.

Carlin said a unanimous vote of the union decided to reject proposals made by the Industrial Disputes Commission, headed by Humphrey Mitchell, which held a three-day session here last week.

Run From Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two Axis ships, one German and the other Italian, which had taken refuge in Thai territorial waters off Bangkok since the outbreak of the European war, were reliably reported today to have slipped away Saturday night, presumably headed for Saigon, French Indo-China.

Prisoner of Nazis

VANCOUVER (CP) — Douglas Swindells, 16-year-old Vancouver youth, is in a German prison camp, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Swindells.

The youth left Canada several months ago as cook's assistant on a freighter. His parents had not heard from him since the ship passed through the Panama Canal.

South Pacific 'Powder Keg', Tokyo Expecting Action

Canadian and Associated Press Reuters News Agency reported tonight from Tokyo "important developments" were expected shortly.

The agency did not say what was expected, but linked the expectation to a return to the city of United States ambassador Joseph C. Grew and British ambassador Sir Robert Craigie.

The South Pacific — possible powder-keg for a new war front—was watched intently in London as the Australian cabinet met in special session to consider the rapidly-developing situation.

MENZIES CONCERNED

Mr. Menzies declared the situation "more full of danger than ever" and said the cabinet must discuss "developments which brooked no delays."

"While we desire peace," he said, "we are not disposed to run away from the geographically plain fact that Singapore is part of Australia's frontier."

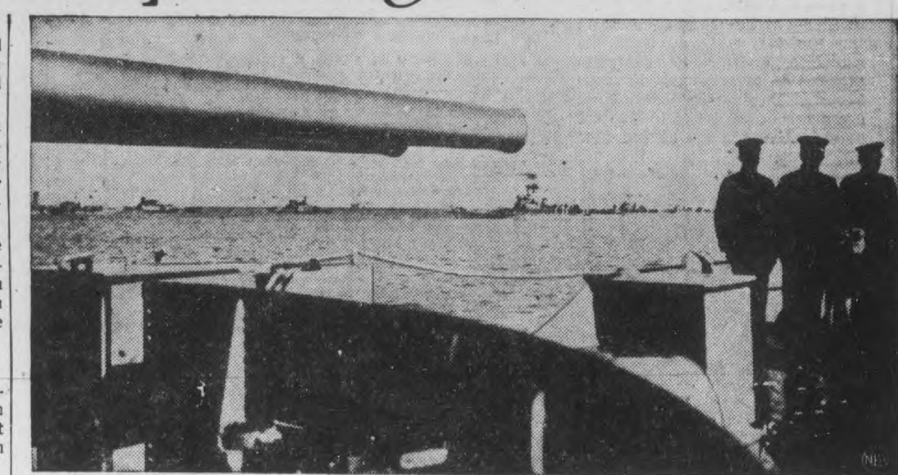

"Australia is ready to defend herself with her forces..." Some sources in London predicted, however, the danger point in the Far East actually was moving away from Australia—toward Siberia—and the London Daily Express said it believed Japan was preparing to "stab Russia in the back."

Japanese nationals are leaving Singapore for Bangkok.

WAR FOOTING

In Tokyo the government put Japan on a full economic war footing today under the general mobilization act and authoritative quarters declared only two steps remained before a possible actual break with United States.

But strangely, amid the atmosphere of deteriorating Japanese-American relations, came the counsel of a Japanese diplomat, Kaname Wakasugi, homecoming minister at the Washington Embassy, that "United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities."

The two steps that would cause a complete United States break with Japan were specified by the newspaper Chugai, which speaks for big business, as a complete embargo and severance of consular relations.

PESSIMISTIC

For Chugai this was a new, pessimistic turn in its editorial comment. For Japanese diplomacy, Wakasugi's blunt delineation of Japanese-American relations was one of the sharpest outlines by a Japanese official in recent months.

He pictured both nations as unwilling to "start anything," but declared the United States attitude was changed and that Washington was ready with a retaliatory step for every action Japan could take.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi talked from Tokyo by telephone to Los Angeles with Wakasugi and quoted him as referring to the Thailand question as "this delicate issue."

The following is a partial text of Nichi Nichi's transcript of the trans-Pacific interview:

"Isolationist sentiment is gradually dropping out in the United States and speech, press, industry and everything are directed toward preparedness."

"Any person who saw the United States last year cannot possibly imagine the actual America of today since everything is definitely changed."

"The United States may be desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Japan as long as possible, but all depends on the situation."

WARNS JAPAN

"I think the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities."

"I do not think the United States will start anything on Japan so the attitude depends solely on Japan. I cannot touch on the international situation, yet the United States is very suspicious of Japan if Japan does anything in the Far East with Germany that the United States is trying to check."

"The Anglo-American powers actually are allied. They are closely watching international developments."

"What are the Anglo-American powers going to do regarding the Thailand question; I am going back to Japan on this delicate issue."

"Japanese-American relations are closely related to the international situation and should not be irritated uselessly. There should be calm management of the situation rather than excitement in view of the traditional relations of these two powers."

Nazis Drive on Odessa, 'Slow, Uneven' Elsewhere

Canadian and Associated Press Two German columns converging on Odessa, from the north and west, are making "very considerable progress," authoritative sources in London said today.

One German drive was reported aimed southeast and another almost due east into the Ukraine, apparently in an attempt to pinch off this mammoth granary before September rains begin, and to develop it as a base for winter operations.

Some London sources said the German drive east already "may have crossed the Dniester River." They regarded the big wheat port of Nikolaevo, 80 miles northeast of Odessa, as threatened.

German progress elsewhere was described in London as "slow and uneven," despite Nazi claims of successes in the north.

From Moscow came a dispatch that the Red Army, reinforced by a rising tide of militia, was holding firm along the central front, although Soviet officials acknowledged defence lines at the north and south flanks were drawn back nearer Leningrad and deeper into the Ukraine.

A communique from Hitler's headquarters claimed rapid progress everywhere in "pursuit of the retreating enemy in the southern Ukraine," and developments according to plan on all other sectors.

The war bulletin thus reverted to terse generality after its voluminous claims of last week. Other German sources, however, insisted the entire Dnieper bend—embracing thousands of square miles of fertile Ukrainian plateau —was "as good as lost" to Russia. The Russians today listed further casualties suffered by the Germans. They claimed 19 tanks, eight mortars, 31 light machine guns, six anti-tank guns, 10 automobiles and several motorcycles in one sector alone.

Well-informed military sources in Ankara said Germany was using 70 divisions in her drive south of Kiev, making more than 1,000,000 men pressing toward the Russian industrial centre of Dnepropetrovsk.

Washington military authorities, seeking to reconcile the conflicting casualty claims of the bloody campaign, put forward these tentative conclusions today:

1. In seven weeks of the announced attempt to annihilate the Red army, the German war machine has sustained losses probably exceeding 1,000,000 men killed, wounded, prisoners and missing. The Russian losses were believed to be materially greater.

UNTRUE

2. German losses thus far are several times greater than the aggregate casualties suffered by the Nazi forces in the previous 23 months of the present conflict. Berlin had acknowledged 218,440 men put out of action prior to the invasion of Russia—a figure which some military men believe too low to be true.

3. Both Russian and German casualties probably have exceeded any losses either nation suffered within a like period of the 1914-18 war.

4. In point of bloodshed, as well as the number of soldiers engaged continuously and the vast extent of the fighting front, the battle of Russia probably stands alone in history.

Fear 5 Lost

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Fears for the safety of five persons aboard the 25-foot cabin cruiser Dolly Dean, unreported since she left Southampton Sunday morning for Stokes Bay, were expressed today.

On board are owner Edwin T. Hamilton of Stokes Bay, formerly of Cleveland; Jack Smith, Stokes Bay, Mrs. Kathleen Shem of Cleveland and her two children, Marian, 14 and Thomas 15,

More rigid government supervision over the steel industry was also understood to be likely.

It was reported last week that Mr. Hepburn would take a post in the ministry of production in England.

Canada Naval College Will Open Next Year

LONDON (CP)—Canada will open a naval college in the autumn of 1942, on a site not yet announced, Canadian Navy Minister Angus Macdonald today told a press conference. The government will see that poor boys get the same chance as rich boys to train to be officers, he said.

(This, apparently, will be in addition to H.M.C.S. Royal Roads, the former Dunsuir mansion at Hatley Park, which is not a naval college, but referred to, by the navy, as an "officers' training establishment.")

Flanked by Rear-Admiral Percy Nelles, chief of naval staff, and Capt. F. L. Houghton, director of plans, who flew the Atlantic last week with the minister, in a bomber, Mr. Macdonald said he is seeking release of a number of British technicians to aid the Canadian destroyer-building program.

NEED ASSISTANCE

"We propose building destroyers in Canada, but will need some assistance from this country in the matter of skilled supervisors," he said.

Already Mr. Macdonald has talked with First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander.

"Since the beginning of the war our navy has been working closely with the Royal Navy and we have come to London to see the First Lord and other officers

Peiping Says:

Siberia, Not Thailand Next Aim of Japanese

By J. D. WHITE

PEIPING (AP)—Observers in this north China gate to Manchoukio and Mongolia expressed conviction today Japan's next theatre of action is more likely to be Siberia than Thailand—and that the blow may fall any day.

In Shanghai, foreign military sources agreed Japan was mobilizing a powerful striking force in Manchoukio, but usually well-informed quarters still believed Japan would act only if Russia seemed about to collapse.

Informed quarters expressed belief August was the latest Japan could expect to launch a campaign into eastern Siberia without a winter stalemate.

Sifting the rumors, informed quarters were convinced Japan probably has massed in Manchoukio at least as many troops as the Russians they would encounter in eastern Siberia.

Best available estimates here were Russia still has a normal strength of 500,000 effectives in Siberia, including some mechanized units, while Japan probably has doubled the normal Kwangtung army strength of 250,000—if not trebled it as some unconfirmed reports indicated.

Close analysts of Japan policy and discuss co-operation between the two navies," the minister said.

In addition to announcing establishment of a naval college in Canada, Mr. Macdonald gave British reporters, including the naval experts of London dailies, these facts:

Canada's merchant shipbuilding program should result in 100 ships—about 1,000,000 tons—taking the water in 1942.

NEARLY ENOUGH

Corvette construction is averaging about eight monthly, and "we have reached the point where we will have enough very shortly."

The convoy which escorted the Canadian 3rd Division to England had an equal number of Canadian and British destroyers when it left Canada.

Naval co-operation with Britain extends across the Atlantic, in addition to naval units in the Caribbean and the Pacific.

Questioned about Canadian naval action in the event of a flare-up in the Pacific, Mr. Macdonald said it is the navy's duty to defend Canada "wherever that duty may take it—if there is trouble in the Pacific, we will dispose our navy to the best advantage."

Elizabeth Speaks

'Hardship Steels Hearts, Strengthens Resolution'

LONDON (CP)—Following is the text of Queen Elizabeth's radio address to the United States:

It is just over two years since I spoke to the American people and my purpose then was to thank constant friends for much kindness. It is to those same friends, and of even greater kindness, that I want to speak today.

We, like yourselves, love peace, and have not devoted the years behind us to the planning of death and destruction; and yet, fearlessly in the valor of our people, we have not lacked our enemy; and it is only now that we are beginning to marshal around us in their full strength the devotion and resources of our Great British Commonwealth of Nations, which will in the end, please God, assuredly prevail.

MARVEL

Through these waiting months a heavy burden has been borne by our people. As I go amongst them I marvel at their unshakable constancy. In many cities their homes lie in ruins, as do many of these ancient buildings which you know and love hardly less than we do ourselves. Women and children have been killed, and even the sufferers in hospitals have not been spared.

Yet hardship has only steered our hearts and strengthened our resolution. Wherever I go, I see bright eyes and smiling faces, for though our road is stony and hard, we know that we fight in a great cause. It is not our way in dark days to turn for support to others but even had we been minded to do so your instant help would have foretold us.

The warmth and sympathy of American generosity has touched beyond measure the hearts of all of us living in these islands.

GREAT HELP

We shall never forget how, in the hour of our greatest need you came forward with clothes for the homeless, food for the hungry, comfort for those who were sorely afflicted. Canteens, ambulances and medical supplies have come in an unceasing flow from the United States.

I find it hard to tell you of our gratitude in adequate terms, but ask you to believe that it is deep and sincere beyond expression. Unless you have seen, as I have seen, just how your gifts have been put to use you cannot know, perhaps, the solace which you have brought to the men and women of Britain who are suffering and toiling in the cause of freedom.

Here in Britain, our women are working in factory and field, turning the lathe and gathering the harvest, for we must have food as well as munitions.

Their courage is magnificent, their endurance amazing. I have seen them in many different activities. They are serving in the navy, army and air force, driving heavy lorries, cooking, typing—and every one of them working cheerfully and bravely under any conditions. Many are on the land, our precious soil, driving the plow and making a grand job of it. Others are air raid wardens and ambulance drivers—thousands of undaunted women who quietly and calmly face the terror of the night bombing, bringing strength and courage to people they protect and help.

NURSES THANKED

I must say a personal word to the nurses—those wonderful women whose devotion, whose heroism will never be forgotten. In the black horror of a bombed hospital they never falter, and though often wounded, think always of their patients and never of themselves.

And I need not remind you, who set as much store by your home life as we do, how great are the difficulties which our housewives have to face nowadays and how gallantly they are facing them. I could continue to list almost indefinitely, so manifold is the service which our women in Britain are giving. But I want to tell you that whatever the nature of our daily or nightly task, they are cheered by the evidence of your thoughtfulness.

We like to picture you listening on your porches, serving in your committee rooms and helping in a hundred ways to bring relief to our civilian garrison homes. Though I speak for us all in Britain in thanking all of you in America, I feel I should like to send a special message of thanks to American women. It brings us the knowledge that you are not being content to pass us by on the other side, so that in the time of our tribulation, you have shown again that compassion which has been for 2,000 years the mark of the good neighbor.

Believe me, and I am speaking for millions of us, we shall not forget your sacrifice.

The sympathy which inspires it springs not only from our common speech and the traditions which we share with you, but even more from our common ideals. To you tyranny is as hateful as it is to us—to you the same things for which we will fight to the death are not less sacred. And to my mind, at any rate, your generosity is part of your conviction that we fight to serve a cause that is yours no less than ours, and of your high resolve that, however great the cost and however long the struggle, justice and freedom, human dignity and kindness, shall not perish from the earth.

I look to the day when we shall go forward hand in hand to build a better, a kinder and a happier world for our children.

May God bless us all.

OWN SCRIPT

The Queen writes all her scripts herself and spent much time on this address last week, even giving two hours of a journey home from the House on the Royal train to the composition. Persons who know her say she thinks nothing of passing hours on revision, searching for the right word or phrase.

She has received many compliments on the ease and naturalness of her little speeches, and time and again rehearses lines until every last little inflection has been explored, every word and phrase mastered for the desired effect.

Unlike the King, whose addresses must receive cabinet approval because of their constitutional importance, the Queen's speeches are seen by no one except two secretaries to whom she dictates the final draft a few hours before broadcasting.

VICHY PREPARES NEW ACTION

VICHY (AP)—The newspaper Paris Midi said today Gen. Maxime Weygand, North African consul, had been summoned to Vichy because the Petain government wanted to be ready to "ward off any event" which might follow action it is preparing.

Weygand, who made an unexpected trip to Vichy, has conferred several times with Marshal Petain and Vice-Premier Jean Darlan in the midst of considerable cabinet activity.

The newspaper did not specify what action was contemplated nor what were the consequences feared although the more outspoken Paper L'Ouvrier, published in German-occupied France, mentioned the "defence of Africa against Anglo-Saxon coveting."

"This requires formal engagements and a will to keep them whereby Vichy would really be inaugurating a new policy," the paper added.

Smolensk

War Wipes Out Stately City

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
SMOLENSK, Russia (By Telephone to Berlin), (AP)—Smolensk, once stately Russian city on the banks of the upper Dnieper, has taken its place among the communities wiped out by war.

I walked over its ashes, the first American newspaperman to reach this sector of the central front. The Germans claim they captured Smolensk July 16.

(The Russians, as recently as last week, declared at least some sections of the city 23 miles west of Moscow still were in Russian hands.)

The blackened chimneys of burned-out factories and homes, and the shells of a few houses, stood precariously amidst the devastation.

90 PER CENT

Asked how much of Smolensk was destroyed, a German officer estimated 90 per cent. He declared most of the damage was caused by Russian troops carrying out Stalin's orders to destroy everything before retreating.

Only 20,000 of 160,000 civilians who resided in Smolensk a month ago have remained. German soldiers swarmed over the scene cleaning up.

The front was moved on east a few kilometres in the direction of Moscow.

A hundred miles of travel over this combat zone in a German military transport plane revealed Minsk and Vitebsk, over which the plane flew low, were desolate—but not to the extent of Smolensk.

In between, however, hundreds of straw-thatched villages for the most part seemed untouched.

Here and there could be seen the blackened ruins of villages. In one case a whole community of about 60 houses was burning briskly as we flew over.

GIRL GIVES LIFE TO SAVE FRIEND

LADNER (CP)—Sixteen-year-old Mary Hiede of Abbotsford was drowned in the Fraser River near here yesterday when she attempted to save a companion, Betty Schmidt, also 16.

Betty, unable to swim, got beyond her depth and Mary went to her assistance but she also called for help. Her 17-year-old sister, Anne Hiede, went to their rescue and pulled Betty to safety.

When she returned for May the girl had disappeared. The body was recovered two hours later.

Berliners in Shelters As Enemy Bombs Drop

Associated Press
Berlin residents scurried to their air-raid shelters just after darkness last night as hostile airplanes dropped bombs in the centre of the city.

Whether the planes were British or Russian was not determined.

A Nazi communique, reporting the raid, merely said "the attack was fully ineffective."

The planes came from the northeast, which would indicate they were Russian, although British planes in the past have been known to approach the German capital from that direction.

Moscow, announcing the 16th German raid on the Russian capital last night, reported civilian casualties had mounted. Incendiaries touched off fires in the ruins of dwellings smashed by high explosives.

The Russians reported that, like the night before, only a few of the raiders broke through the city's defence of anti-aircraft fire and night fighters. Five raiders were reported down during the alarm, which lasted four hours and 15 minutes and 10 in the mass raid Saturday night.

DNB, Nazi propaganda and news agency, claimed a direct hit was scored on the Kremlin, Saturday night, as nearly 100 German planes strewn heavy explosives and fire bombs in the biggest raid on the Soviet capital.

There were few planes over the British Isles at the week-end. Some planes attempted raids on Scotland and England last night. In Scotland bombs were dropped at one place, but neither damage nor casualties resulted.

U.S. Two-ocean Navy Ready by 1944

WASHINGTON (AP)—The warship speed-up, cutting construction time on new men-o-war an average of 12 1/2 per cent for each vessel, will give the United States its two-ocean fleet two years earlier than originally scheduled, navy sources said today.

Barring labor trouble or actual war, the fleet will be "substantially ready" by 1944 to fulfill its intended mission of defending United States from simultaneous attacks in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, a navy spokesman said. The originally scheduled date was 1946-47.

Some of the 17 battleships authorized, and perhaps certain other large units will be completed, but by 1944 it was estimated the most powerful fleet the world has ever known will be in readiness for any possible hostile combination.

DREW WOULD TRAIN PARACHUTE TROOPS

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario opposition leader, said today that if Canada's manpower were mobilized under a "proper selective system," there could be 1,000,000 called to the colors without reducing the Dominion's industrial efficiency.

Addressing the Ontario Command, Canadian Legion, Drew claimed that if Canada maintained armed forces on the same per capita basis as Great Britain, there would be more than 1,300,000 men in uniform.

Declaring most of Canada's training today is "suitable for the last war," Drew stressed the need for intense rehearsal in modern warfare. The Dominion should be training parachute, airborne and armored troops. "It would not do us much good if we trained 2,000,000 men unless those men were trained for a type of fighting that would make them superior to the German armed forces either in Europe or in the defence of our own shores," he said.

One lesson of supreme importance learned from the first great war was co-operation, he said. All Canadians, including men of the forces, must feel the same sense of responsibility and show the same spirit of co-operation.

'Don't Forget Dangers' Warns Duff Cooper

NEW YORK (AP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, former British Minister of Information, declared on his arrival aboard the Atlantic clipper that his government expects "great developments in the Far East," and that he is on a mission to Singapore to co-ordinate colonial administration.

Rising optimism is evident everywhere, he said, but added the people "should not forget their greatest danger lies in the submarine menace and in Hitler's efforts to starve England out."

Mr. Duff Cooper said he would remain in the United States about two weeks and would go to Washington in the near future. From there he will fly to San Francisco and take a clipper for the Orient.

Germans Now Masters Of Italian People

TORONTO (CP)—Italians whom they met were "aghast" when they found another war was upon them, Saville R. Davis, assistant to the managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor, said in an address over the national network of the CBC.

Davis described the scene when Mussolini addressed thousands of Italians on the day the country entered the war against the Allies. "At a dramatic moment," he said, "Mussolini strode onto the balcony and the crowd went mad. The crowd, I say, because I swiftly noticed that it wasn't the crowd at all. It was only the enthusiasts, and the Fascist zealots down front."

"Back where we stood there was a minimum of cheering. Every other man didn't even bother to raise his hand in the Fascist salute. Two out of three stood silent while the cheerleaders extracted their cries of 'Duce, Duce,' down front." The man next to him stood with clenched hands, gulping back tears, Davis said.

Davis continued that when he left Italy the Germans were the only people keeping their heads—Germans brought into every Italian government office, economic, military and political advisers.

"As the Italians fell into confusion, the Germans simply tightened their lines and took over control. By the time I left they were in operating control of all the key centres of power in Italy. They worked through the Italians, to be sure, to save themselves trouble, but they nevertheless were the masters of Italy."

VANCOUVER MAN HEADS KINSMEN

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates attending the annual convention of Kinsmen Clubs in Canada pledged themselves to supply milk to the children of the bombed areas of Great Britain. The campaign started today with the purchase of the equivalent of 100,000 quarts of fluid milk in dried form to be shipped to the Mother Country.

The following officers were elected: National president, Howard Da. Cew, Vancouver; vice-president, J. F. Knechtel, Hanover, Ont.; secretary, F. A. White, Vancouver; treasurer, H. K. Hall, Vancouver; historian, E. A. Dunning, Ladner, B.C.; registrar, C. B. Romer, Vancouver.

Vancouver was chosen as the 1942 convention city.

Forest Ranger Mauled By Angry Bear

NELSON (CP)—Charles Slade, assistant forest ranger of Arrowhead, is recovering in hospital at Revelstoke today from injuries suffered Saturday when he was mauled into unconsciousness by an angered bear.

After recovering consciousness, Slade staggered four miles over a pack trail to his station, where he radioed for help before collapsing in a pool of blood. He is suffering a badly chewed elbow, a torn back and bruised forehead.

An Arrowhead storekeeper to whom ranger Percy Young of Nakusp telegraphed after receiving the radio call, took Slade to hospital.

Slade was returning to his station after taking supplies to the lookout on Sprout Mountain, a trip of 12 miles, when he passed a huckleberry patch, where three or four bears were feeding.

A cub squealed and a parent bear, its protective instincts apparently aroused, attacked Slade.

Decisive Phase of Russian Battle At Hand—Test for Reds

By MAJOR GEORGE FIELDING
ELIOT
(Copyright, 1941)

The development of the German offensive in the Kiev region is perhaps the most interesting change which has taken place during the last week on the Russo-German front. What it means is not yet clear, not so much because we do not know the German intentions, but rather because these intentions are likely to be guided by the nature and extent of local tactical successes or reverses.

Just at present the Germans appear to have reached a point about 50 miles south of Kiev, to be driving toward Kiev from the west, and to be swinging southeast from the Smolensk area in a direction which, if prolonged, would threaten to cut vital rail supply lines of the Russian troops in the Kiev sector. This latter move may well be no more than a glorified raid, with its purpose the destruction of rail and road communications—something like the cavalry raids for the same purpose in our own Civil War. Or it may develop into something more serious.

As for the German thrust south of Kiev, it has not yet, apparently, reached the Dnieper. There is a possibility that it is not directed at Kiev at all, but has for its purpose a swing to the southward and the envelopment of the Russian troops defending the line of the Dniester, across which German and Rumanian bridgeheads have been reported established. If the Germans can advance from these bridgeheads—whether they have already done so or not is a subject of conflicting report—the classic German double envelopment might be produced, endangering all the Russian troops in the extreme southern sector of the front, and perhaps the great Black Sea port of Odessa and the naval base and shipbuilding yards at Nikolaiev.

RUSSIANS RULE THE BLACK SEA

The loss of Odessa and Nikolaiev would be a serious though not fatal blow to Russian naval power in the Black Sea. It ought to be kept in mind that the Russians have great naval superiority in this sea, a superiority which is contested only by the four destroyers and three submarines of the Rumanian navy plus such additional small submarines as the Germans may have shipped overland and assembled at Rumanian or Bulgarian ports. It is easy to see how this Russian naval command of the Black Sea might be a serious obstacle to German ambitions in the direction of Turkey or the Caucasus.

The weight of probability seems, however, to incline toward a German attempt to capture Kiev itself, as a token victory for morale-building purposes, to be followed perhaps by an attempt to envelop the Russian armies between the Kiev and Smolensk sectors in connection with the German push southeast from Smolensk. This is an operation of considerable extent and may not develop rapidly; but if it makes progress at all it can become very dangerous to the Russians. If successful it would open up two flanks, separating the bulk of the Russian

Mediterranean

Duce Hasn't Enough Ships To Hold Naval Review

By LARRY ALLEN

ALEXANDRIA (AP)—It matters not whether Mussolini's battered navy stays home or ventures out, Britain's Mediterranean fleet is bent upon blasting the last of Italy's warships from what Duce calls "our sea."

British authorities say—and arrivals here confirm—that allied convoys move freely through Mussolini's self-proclaimed private lake, pouring vital war supplies into Malta and the middle east.

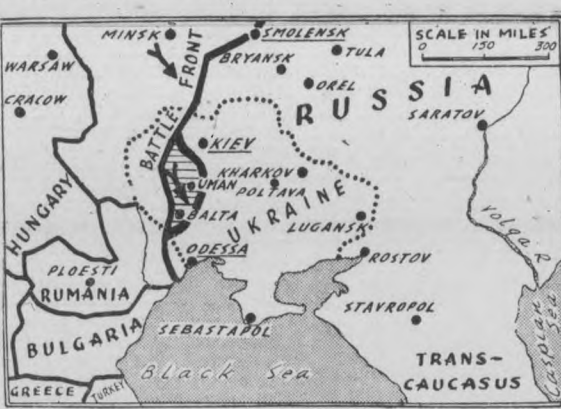

The backbone of Italy's battle fleet is broken. More than 50 per cent of her total naval striking power lies at the bottom of the Mediterranean or is out of commission.

STRANGE BATTLES

These are my impressions after watching Britain's navy chase, catch and smash powerful units of the fast-running Fascist fleet in some of the strangest naval battles in history.

To mention one, in the Battle of Cape Matapan, not a single British ship was hit while three Italian cruisers for sure, possibly a fourth, and three destroyers were sunk and the battleship Vittorio Veneto was heavily damaged.

This followed the disastrous British air raid on Taranto harbor November 11 when they crushed the backbone of the Italian battle-armies and exposing each fraction to defeat in detail. The reports of heavy Russian counter-attacks may therefore be accepted at face value; the Russians will certainly make the most desperate efforts to check the German drives.

It seems quite likely that we have now reached a stage at which the Russians' ability to maintain the scale of their initial efforts in this war will be put to severe test. From the very beginning I have pointed out that the real criterion of Russian military power is likely to be their ability to replace their initial losses in tanks, guns and equipment, and to continue to get supplies and reinforcements up their fighting troops—a test, in other words, not so much of the battle qualities of the Russian soldier and the tactical abilities of the Russian officer as of the whole administrative, transportation and industrial system of the Soviet state. It is in this field, many observers have felt, that the Germans seemed likely to show greater superiority over the Russians than in some others.

REPLACEMENTS VITAL

The Russians began the war with probably a two-to-one superiority over the Germans in armored fighting vehicles, and with no worse than a two-to-three inferiority in combat aircraft. Put in these categories of weapons particularly initial losses are likely to be very heavy, and ability to replace, indeed to maintain a steady flow of replacements, quickly becomes of major importance. At the same time both these types of weapon, and particularly the air weapon, bear directly upon that ability to replace because of their value in interrupting rail and road communications.

So far, the Russian air force has remained in being and has borne a great part in the Russian defence. If now it shows signs of weakening, or to put it another way, if the German air force appears to be gaining greater freedom of action, to be

Whitney Paroled From Sing Sing

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—Richard Whitney, Wall Street's $11,000,000 failure who worked his way up from a mop bucket to a clerkship during 40 months in Sing Sing, regained his liberty and name today and a chance for a fresh career.

The former broker—he was five times president of the New York Stock Exchange—will shed his numerical identity as convict No. 94635 when he emerges from prison at 8 a.m., to begin a new life at the age of 53 on a New England farm.

It won't be quite a question of beginning at the bottom, however, for Whitney, whose brokerage firm failed spectacularly for $11,000,000 in 1938. He will be superintendent of a 25-cow dairy farm near Bainstable, Mass.

Whitney, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of $214,000 from client accounts of the New York Yacht Club and the estate of his father-in-law, has served three years and four months of a 5-to-10-year sentence.

He is forbidden under the law from returning to Wall Street. He also may not drink, carry firearms or vote unless the governor of New York restores his citizenship rights.

As a parolee, he was entitled to a new suit and $20, as gifts of New York state—but will need no railroad ticket.

A limousine supplied by his brother, George Whitney, the J. P. Morgan partner who advanced him $2,600,000 in a future attempt to save him from bankruptcy, whisked him directly from the prison to the farm where he will live with his wife and daughter, Alice, 22.

'No Telegram' Prime Minister Denies Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Charges that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had attempted to limit Canada's participation in the war, made at a public meeting at Toronto, July 29, by Lieut.-Col. C. E. Reynolds and Major W. D. Herdridge, have been denied by Postmaster-General W. P. Mulock, who acted as spokesman for the Prime Minister.

(Reynolds, president of the Canadian Corps Association, said at the public meeting he had seen a certified copy of a telegram from Mr. King to Neville Chamberlain six days before Canada entered the war, suggesting that the then British Prime Minister announce no expeditionary force was expected of Canada.)

(The telegram, said Reynolds, was shown him by a "high British officer in the War Office," and was dated September 4, 1939.)

(Herdridge, former Canadian minister to Washington, told the meeting he was told by a "high official" in England "that the Canadian government, in consequence of entering into the Commonwealth Air Training Plan had asked the British government for a statement in Parliament that no further contribution was expected of Canada.")

Mulock, speaking at a drum-head service challenged Reynolds and Herdridge to name the "high British officers."

"I have discussed this matter with the Prime Minister of Canada," Mulock said. "I did so for the reason that I was not a member of the cabinet at the time of Col. Reynolds' trip to England. As a result I wish to state that Mr. King has advised me definitely that no such telegram was ever sent to Mr. Chamberlain, or to any other member of the British government, by himself or by the Canadian government."

Col. Reynolds, when making this charge, challenged Mr. King to deny it. I have Mr. King's full authority to do so on his behalf."

VANCOUVER FLIER SCORES AT BARDIA

LONDON (CP)—A Canadian flight lieutenant from Vancouver piloted a Glenn Martin bomber in a low-level attack on a camp near Bardia, Libya, in which 100 enemy soldiers were killed or wounded and 12 motor transport vehicles shot up, the Air Ministry news service said today.

The plane's crew, members of one of the most famous of the Western Desert squadrons, which includes Free French, South African and Australian pilots, described seeing the camp in a second run over the coast.

"I dived down on it with my guns going for all they were worth and the rear gunner was blazing away as well," the Canadian said.

"The soldiers were standing in little groups of from 12 to 20 near tents. Some seemed so petrified by the speed of our attack they just stood there, but I could see others diving for the trenches as bullets spurted amongst them. "We strafed all the motor transport we could see."

"When I lifted her nose and

Has Vichy Sold Out?

GERMANY IS REPORTED TO HAVE made demands on the government of Marshal Petain which, if granted, would transfer French naval bases and strategic ports to the Reich for such purposes as Hitler and his gang may determine. It is also suggested that Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan is preparing the French navy for service to the Reich, and that Vichy must acquiesce in these and other plans or take the consequences.

Although full details of the German ultimatum are not generally known as we write, a crop of reports suggest that Vichy has completely sold out to Berlin, that Marshal Petain may declare war on Russia, agree to send French troops to Germany's eastern front, abide by Darlan's decision as to the employment of the French fleet, and, generally, stop short of an open breach with Great Britain. If French troops were "assembled" with Nazi forces in Russia, however, the British government would have to take stock of its relations with its active ally. This is apparently the situation Darlan wants to produce; nothing would suit his political game with Germany better than to inveigle Britain into declaring war on Vichy. It is all too clumsy to take anybody in; and it is too late in the day to resort to such subterfuges in the hope that the minds of decent people might be impressed.

One important aspect of Vichy's policy and intentions, of course, directly concerns both Great Britain and the United States—from two somewhat different standpoints. If Dakar should be brought under complete Nazi control, for example, there is every likelihood Washington would confer with the governments of the South American republics, especially Brazil, by reason of the west African port's proximity to the Western Hemisphere. Joint action in the matter of bases in Latin America would loom as an immediate political and military necessity. With the Germans at Dakar, with or without the assistance of French warships already there, the trade route between Britain and Africa would be menaced by enemy craft—under, on, and over the water.

If the Petain government has sold out to Berlin on most major points, however, it will be interesting to learn what General Weygand has done or may do. Admiral Darlan is his superior officer, who now, by the way, ranks equally with the aged Marshal. But the former Allied Generalissimo has a large army under his command; he has said on several occasions he would never become the tool of the Reich. It still lies within his power to strike a blow for democracy and the cause he knows to be right.

Must Save More Gasoline

WHEN MR. G. R. COTTRELL, THE official responsible for controlling Canada's fuel oil, issued his injunction to the users of automobiles to curtail their consumption of gasoline by 50 per cent he was in dead earnest. Motorists could do as he asked them to do with a good grace, because our bombers might have to go on short commons if they disregarded his request, or they might produce a situation under which there would be no other means of achieving the objective short of rationing.

Three weeks have elapsed since the general order for stricter control of gasoline consumption went into effect. This involved methods of sale and the restriction of hours during which purchases could be made. After a few days Mr. Cottrell announced he was satisfied with the response which his request had been accorded. The public inferred that voluntary action would meet the case satisfactorily. But since then the impression has gained ground that all is not well—that the demand had decreased by nothing like the 50 per cent for which the controller had asked.

What is plain to all sensible people is that if the voluntary method of dealing with the gasoline situation is not working as it should work, or if there is the slightest apprehension lest it fall altogether, Mr. Cottrell should tell the people and tell them at once. Motorists are not children in arms. They understand how important a factor gasoline is in the Empire's war effort; but, human nature being what it is, the plain facts of any problem do not sink in unless they are driven home as if they were meant to be driven home.

Our people are not afraid of the truth; most of them ought to know that a battle for their very survival now encompasses them in one form or another, and that their Canadianism does not rate very high if they object to such an infinitesimal sacrifice as that involved in doing with half as much gasoline as has been their wont. We suggest without any hesitation, then, that Mr. Cottrell tell the automobilists of this country that it will take him only a few minutes to order compulsory saving if such a course is considered essential.

The Russians will be doing correspondents and editors a great favor if they would keep the fighting and thus the news away from the Soviet town of Gershemoshentoyouitchnic.

Air Cadets

AIRMEN AND MORE AIRMEN, AS well as bombers and more bombers, must be the watchword in Canada for many a moon. When industrial production in this country and in the United States hits its peak, as it will do before very long, the call for fully-qualified aviators will be insistent. Unless sufficient manpower is trained well in advance of that call, Allied striking power will be bound to suffer. It is gratifying to note, however, that a provincial committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada has been formed—a move announced the other day by Major R. H. B. Ker, a member of the Dominion board of directors of the movement, and himself an aviator during the first Great War.

Boys from 15 to 18 may join the League, taking from three to four hours of instruction per week during school time. The course in basic air training will extend over a two-year period. In addition, an independent unit is to be established in Victoria for eligible boys who have left school. The national objective is a membership of 25,000 cadets, which is expected to be a reservoir of manpower for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Here, then, is an excellent opportunity for the young men of this community not yet old enough for active service to prepare themselves for possible later emergencies—and, at the same time, to acquire knowledge important to all who may desire to follow aviation as a profession when peace has returned to the world.

Nineteenth of the Series

WHEN THE SENIORS' NORTHWEST Golf Association's 19th annual tournament got under way at the picturesque links of the Victoria Golf Club this morning several familiar figures were missing—men who have made their mark in the world and have left it the better for having lived in it. During the last year, however, the roster of the organization has grown by the addition of other devotees of the Royal and Ancient pastime who have entered the last half of the decade which ends at three score years. And the fact that no fewer than 160 young older men faced starter Phil Taylor—who, by the way, has officiated in this important role, ever since the inception of the institution—is in itself arresting evidence that this summer golfing classic in Victoria has retained its popularity through the years and betrays not the slightest sign of waning enthusiasm. It is all to the good, moreover, at this crucial testing time that men from all walks of life, men identified with practically the whole calendar of human activity, find so pleasant a medium for intimate companionship and exchanges of thought. Again we welcome our friends from the neighboring states of the Union; this yearly festival of the fairways never fails to attract a very substantial number of the American members of the organization. And they bring words of cheer to Canadians in these trying times.

Ten Capitals Bombed

IF EUROPE HAD SET OUT DELIBERATELY two years ago to ruin itself, it is hard to see how it could have done a better job. Ruhr down the list of the great pre-war European cities, and realize with a shock that of them these 10 have been bombed: London, Warsaw, Brussels, Amsterdam, Paris, Belgrade, Helsinki, Berlin, Bucharest and Moscow. Bombs have also fallen in neutral Dublin, while Madrid still bears deep scars of the Spanish Civil War. Rome has escaped, probably due to the residence there of an international religious leader, the Pope. Athens escaped; Stockholm still stands, but the men who have been for 20 years preparing to subject Europe to this blood-bath have already succeeded in subjecting to the ravages of war more capital cities than any conqueror of the past.

A typically terrifying Chinese dragon is described as having "deer horns, camel head, devil eyes, snake neck, sea-serpent body, carp scales, hawk claws, tiger paws and ox eyes." The Ottawa Citizen, with memories of military camp days, thinks that seems to take in everything but the baleful glare of the quartermaster-sergeant when the trainee says his pants don't fit.

CANADA AT WAR

From Toronto Star

Joy came to many a Canadian home when it was announced that the bulk of the third Canadian division had crossed the ocean without suffering harm. Hundreds of Canadian fliers and many corps troops were in the convoy which was one of the largest ever reaching British shores. The convoy carried 400,000,000 of weapons, ammunition and foodstuffs. The safe crossing of this immense and precious convoy is the answer to Hitler's claim that he is winning the Battle of the Atlantic.

The Canadian tank brigade already is in England. The armored division is to go later, which will constitute the fourth Canadian division. The armored division will have much the strongest striking power of the four. The third division was the best equipped Canadian divisions to move overseas. The number of men in the Canadian active forces and reserves in the Canadian air force and Canadian navy and in the Imperial services now approaches the 500,000 mark made up as follows:

Active army	225,000
Reserves (militia)	170,000
R.C.A.F.	55,000
Canadian navy	25,000
In Imperial services	25,000
Grand total	500,000
*Perhaps a little high.

JAM

"WELL," SAID MRS. NOGGIN, bringing me over a dozen of her new pullets eggs, it seems like things is 'appenin' quite a lot lately. Latest thing is the gover'mint is askin' women to put up jam this year on account of the war, as if you 'ad to 'ave a war to make women act sensible, and in Vancouver I see by the papers the women are threatenin' to bake their own bread if the price goes up, but the bakeries don't need to worry. The women won't bake. Bless you, most of 'em don't know 'ow and arf the children growin' up today don't know wot 'ome-made bread tastes like, and the women 'ad better take care they don't because once they get their teeth into it, the women will 'ave to bake every week instead of goin' to tea parties.

"Why, the way we're goin' now-a-days a man'll soon come 'ome for dinner and the wife will 'ave 'im a few vitamin pills bought at the drug store, which is all you need, scientific, but it's a lot more fun to get your teeth into somethin', specially a warm crust, fresh out of the oven.

"Well, I seen by the papers as the Americans 'as 'ad to reject about 'alf the boys called up for the army on account of they're not fit. Queer ain't it. We've found out about sickness and disease and all like that. We got doctors and 'ospitals and medicine. We spend a lot of money on dentists and medical hexaminations and all like that. But we ain't 'ealthy. Why, if we 'ad to give up our automobiles altogether you'd find most folks couldn't walk five miles. They won't exercise, that's the trouble. They'll spend any amount on a doctor or a medicine. They'll spend five dollars for a permanent wave in their 'eads. They'll even roll around on the floor to reduce their 'ips and go with-out food to keep their weight down. But they won't live right.

THEY WON'T

"IT DON'T COST NOTHIN' to live right. You don't need no doctors or books or medicines. You jest got to work and keep on your feet and get plenty of sleep and eat 'earty, plain food, but people won't do that. They'd druther go to a doctor and eat vitamin pills and roll around on the floor and live on lettuce. They'd druther live in an automobile than walk and keep 'ealthy. Why, sometimes, lookin' around me at the people in this town, I begin to think I'm the only 'ealthy person around 'ere and I put it down to payin' no attention to the doctors and the rules of 'ealth and never countin' the vitamins. All you got to do is walk and work and eat 'earty. But people would druther suffer any pain than walk a few steps. They'll take medicines or roll on the floor and live on lettuce before they'll live normal.

"Well, I seen in the same paper some American professors arguin' about the birth rate. And one of the professors says the Americans should ought to 'ave more children so they can double the population in the next 'undred years and the other professors says they're gettin' too many people already and can't support most of 'em decently. Wot I can't understand myself is why people always imagine it's himportant to 'ave a lot more people. Why bless me, ever since I come to this country I've 'eard 'em talkin' about more people, more himmigration, more folks to pay the taxes when, sure as you're born, they'll only spend more money and taxes will be 'igher than ever. You'd think we could only be 'appy if people was walkin' all over our toes.

DRESSED UP

"FAR AS I'M CONCERNED, I was a lot 'appier before this town started to grow and all the nice bungalows started to crowd out my chickens. It's gettin' so as a body 'as to dress up when she goes to town these days. It ain't like Victoria any more. I used to think, after I come from London, well this is nice, I thought, because you can dress as you please and everybody was as badly dressed as the next one. Now, first thing you know, we'll 'ave a city on our 'ands, with everybody prim and respectable 'and puttin' on airs. Already the town is beginnin' to sniff a little with its nose in the air.

"But wot I can't hunderstand is why any country wants more people, after wot 'as 'appenin'. The world bein' in misery, why bring in any more children to suffer like we do? When I look at my friends and at myself, too, I ask myself why make any more creatures like us? It comes down to what Uncle 'Erbert used to say when 'e was a halderman in Liverpool and they was tryin' to clear out the slums. Race suicide is wot Uncle 'Erbert believed in, but nobody would listen to 'im. Race suicide, says 'Erbert, is the only way out. Well, 'e lived up to 'is convictions, poor 'Erbert. He drunk 'imself to death."

Modern Miracle

'FANTASTIC' REPORTS TRUE

Newsweek magazine says the report that 9,000,000 men are engaged in the Russian battle is fantastic and Kirke Simpson states that the report that Russian reserves have been brought up from Siberia is fantastic. Yet both reports are true. The Russians have 5,000,000 men engaged on the eastern front and the Germans and their dupes have 4,000,000 men. The battle began with the Germans possessing a 1.5-to-1 numerical advantage over the Russians, an advantage which was much greater in the sectors chosen for decisive attack. The numerical odds have changed in Russia's favor and ultimately may become 2 to 1 in favor of the Russians. The Russians have better lines of communication immediately behind them than those possessed by the Germans. The Russian air force is coming strong and now is acting most effectively against the German front lines, cutting off advanced troops from their supplies of food and munitions and from their comrades. If there is much further improvement by the Russians in that respect, disaster will overtake the German armies where they stand and not at Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

What we are seeing is a modern miracle, judging from the views expressed six weeks ago by the military experts of the world, including the Germans, who completely misjudged the strength and efficiency of the Russian armies. Some of them said that Russia was in no condition to stage war. Others intimated that Germany would overwhelm the Russian armies in a week to three weeks. Truth to tell, newspapermen who had spent many years in Russia agreed that Russia had absolutely no chance of resisting the might of Germany.

One man who thought differently was Count Werner von der Schulenberg, German ambassador, who is reported to be under arrest for advising Hitler not to attack Russia because he felt the attack would fail. Major Hooper,

DARWINISM

Mr. Patterson is incorrect in his statements re "Darwinism." I quoted Sir Arthur Keith and J. B. S. Haldane who recently stated, "those who are studying the evidence of our origin are Darwinists to a man," and "modern biologists are more Darwinian than Darwin himself. Could any verdict be more conclusive than that of Britain's greatest anthropologist and biologist respectively to refute Hutchison's suggestion that "Darwinism had been knocked into a cocked hat."

Does your correspondent seriously suggest that they do not know what "Darwinism" is? They in fact define it as "the theory of natural selection of Darwin's Origin of Species." Subsequently I cited Henshaw Ward's "Evolution," reference to which would have shown Mr. Patterson that his assertion that de Vries and Weismann "disproved Darwin's idea" was utterly erroneous.

Ward states (p. 302) that de Vries' mutating plant was a primrose recently imported from America, where it had been a cultivated plant, that it gave every sign of being a hybrid revealing latent recessives, and that these mutations appeared to be mere "periodic" variations. Recent examination indicates that these mutations play but a small part in evolution.

In 1903 de Vries stated, "the great principle enunciated by Darwin reigns supreme," and in 1904 he declared that Darwin's theory recognized sudden mutaan obscure Englishman, who may know more about the Russian army than any other Britisher, felt so strongly that Hitler was blundering in attacking Russia that he said: "He must have ants in his pants." He is telling his friends to bet $5 that Russia will win and probably win within three months.

The world seems to have overlooked the fact that during the last five years Russia has spent more money on war preparation than Germany has spent for that purpose. Menaced on either side by Germany and Japan, she had to turn aside from producing consumer goods to gather weapons for self-defence. She did so with the greatest reluctance because of her desire to raise the low standards of living at home which thus were doomed to remain low. The world also failed to see how smartly the Russian army performed in Finland in the deep snow and intense cold of winter, once it was found that a military job had to be done.

The Russian people as a whole lead the world in their understanding of the principles of war. They taught the Chinese how to wage guerrilla war. No people are so ready to adopt a scorched earth policy to baffle an enemy. Few are so expert at sabotage and propaganda. Colossal stocks of war material lie behind the Russian battle front. They cannot reach the Russian armies when most wanted unless motor equipment is available in unheard-of quantities. On that score there is little occasion for worry. The supply problems of the Germans may be much greater.

Berlin admits that the Russians are counter-attacking on the most important battle sectors. Unrest is developing on a serious scale in many German-occupied countries. Mr. Amery intimates that India is in danger from west and east. He probably had the east more prominently in mind. Japan shows signs of hesitating to continue her defiance of free civilization.

Your correspondent is obviously ignorant of the contents of the "Origin of Species" and other works of Darwin.

Again Ward states (p. 288), "Weismann entirely corroborated Darwinism and proved that acquired characters cannot be inherited." Weismann stated that "Darwinism stands on a secure basis of fact. Natural selection is proved by a wealth of phenomena that can only be interpreted in the light of this principle" (p. 320). And Osborn states, "Darwinism has been extended and powerfully advocated by Weismann and de Vries." Yet these are the two men who, according to Mr. Patterson, knocked out Darwin. There could be no better illustration of the error of basing one's views on the ignorant sensationalism of the Press and the mendacity of fundamentalist books like Price's "Phantom of Evolution" and the Rev. Williams' "Evolution Disproved," which I have so often refuted. My objection to "dead authorities" was based on the fact that my dispute with Hutchison was as to the position of Darwinism today, not at any past date.

As everyone knows, Darwin was widely assailed by the "old gang" headed by Agassiz when the "Origin" appeared. Fundamentalists quote these ancient critics, omitting the dates, and carefully suppress the fact that Agassiz ultimately "confessed that his judgment about evolution had been wrong" ("Science," No. 1574).

And as Lord Salisbury stated in 1894, "with Agassiz has disappeared the last defender of the immutability of species who could claim the attention of the world."

Victoria's R.C.A.F. Plane Is Discovered

Last year Victoria staged a Silver Trail for the purpose of raising money to purchase a plane for the Royal Canadian Air Force. During one week a total of $35,982.97, including $6,009.53 taken on the largest tag day ever held in the city, was checked by City Comptroller D. A. MacDonald and turned over to the government.

The Dominion government acknowledged the gift with thanks and said that a plane would carry the coat-of-arms of Victoria aloft. It remained until the visit of the Duke of Kent last Thursday for the identity of Victoria's plane to be revealed.

Lined up on the west side of one of the runways on which the Duke inspected the guard of honor and the Patricia Bay wing of the R.C.A.F. were two Lysander planes. Between these the Duke took the salute. In looking over the planes one of the reception party noticed the inscription "Presented by Citizens of Victoria, B.C." on the outside of the pilot's cockpit.

Inquiry brought forth the information that the plane has been doing valuable service at Patricia Bay for some time. In fact, officers said, it has done more flying than any other plane there. It is constantly in operation over Victoria and forms the eyes for the forts which guard this city. Lysanders are very serviceable machines and are used for dive-bombing as well as reconnaissance work for the artillery. Any time Victorians see a high-wing monoplane in a power dive they can feel sure that it is the machine they bought themselves and gave to the government.

There was renewed interest in the plane when the disclosure was made and photographers of the R.C.A.F. as well as press

HOTELS ARE BUSY

Thomas E. Chester, assistant general manager, Canadian Pacific Hotels, Winnipeg, reached the city Saturday, expressing satisfaction with the system's hotel business.

Checking up with Manager J. K. Hodges at the Empress Hotel this morning, Mr. Chester spoke of the large business done at the Victoria hostelry this summer.

"The Empress business has been particularly good this year," he said.

Since last July 1, Mr. Chester has been at the Rocky Mountain resorts.

The business at Banff, Lake Louise and the mountain lodges showed a great improvement.

"The number of Americans who have been accustomed to spend their summers traveling in Europe, and who have returned to the Canadian mountain resorts this year, is amazing," he said.

"Bookings are already being made for large parties next season."

C.P.R. hotel business is up fully 30 per cent this year.

Mr. Chester pays tribute to the excellent propaganda by the newspapers, government and various travel agencies for the good response to travel in Canada.

German Cities To Be

'Hells of Death And Destruction'

LONDON (CP) — Indications here tonight were that the Royal Air Force and the Russian Air Force were gathering strength and momentum for the most intensive and far-flung attacks of the war, the Russians to use mammoth six-motored bombers to span the eastern battle lines.

The full offensive would turn German cities into "hells of death and destruction," one informant declared.

Technically known as L-760's, the Red bombers are believed to be the newest and most powerful weapons of the Russian Air Force, having two motors more than the British and American-made fortress aircraft, which the R.A.F. has used for high altitude attacks.

Whether they have been used against Germany so far is not definitely known but the Red air force already is stabbing into Germany proper from the east on flights requiring a minimum round-trip range of about 1,500 miles.

British bomb loads soon will be greater than those of the last eight weeks and it is thought possible that with lengthening darkness bombers attacking nearby continental targets will be able to make two trips each per night.

Big Accident Week

One of the heaviest accident weeks of the year was recorded last week. Eleven persons were sent to hospital from major car and motorcycle accidents which occurred between Monday night and Friday night.

Monday night there was a motorcycle crash on Haultain Street which sent one man to hospital.

Early Wednesday morning a car crash near the 17-mile post at Sooke resulted in five people, three men and two girls, going to hospital.

A man and a woman are in hospital suffering injuries they received when two cars collided head-on Wednesday night on Gorge Road near the Windsor Auto Court.

Two airmen from the Patricia Bay station were sent to hospital Thursday night with injuries received in a motorcycle crash on the West Saanich Road.

An Indian was injured in a car accident near Mount Newton on the west Saanich Road Friday evening.

Several of the accidents were blamed on drinking while others were said to have resulted from excessive speed.

Head of Typo Union on Coast

VANCOUVER (CP) — C. M. Baker, president of the International Typographical Union, which has 81,000 members in Canada and the United States, has arrived in Vancouver, with his family, for the eighty-fifth convention of the union which opens here on August 16.

Between 300 and 400 delegates from all parts of Canada and the United States are expected, Mr. Baker said, with as many as 1,500 visitors, including wives and relatives.

Mr. Baker said careful consideration will be given to the extension of pensions, and he recalled that the Typographical Union was "the first in the world" to establish an old age pension.

"We take particular pride in this branch of our activity," the president said. "It may interest you to know that we have $9,000, 600 invested in our home for retired printers at Colorado Springs."

With the establishment of holidays with pay, many delegates now attend conventions during vacation-time, bringing their wives and families with them, Mr. Baker said.

Arbitration Board Goes to Nanaimo

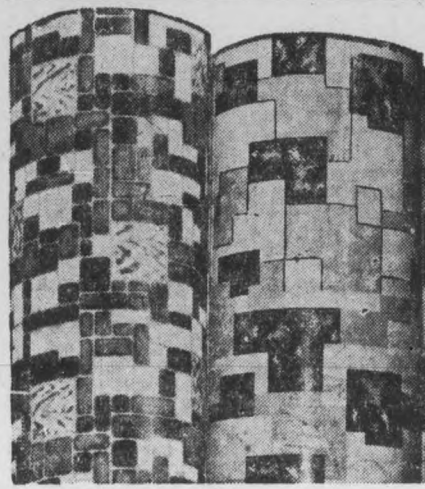

After a week of evidence and argument on union dispute between four Victoria taxi companies and their drivers a Board of Arbitration under J. Howard Hartman today moved to Nanaimo.

The Nanaimo sitting is to take evidence in an allied dispute in which drivers of the Veterans Sightseeing and Transportation Company are involved.

Duke of Kent Rests at Jasper

JASPER PARK LODGE (CP)—Riding and mountain climbing were on the Duke of Kent's schedule for today as he continued his "rest" in this Rocky Mountain resort during the course of his tour of Canadian units of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

At Banff last week the Duke used an English saddle but he has requested that western chaps and saddle be used when he goes for a canter today after returning from the mountain climbing.

The Duke was scheduled to be gone 8 or 10 hours but it was not known which mountain he would climb. One member of the Royal party accompanied His Royal Highness and a lunch was taken.

The Ducal party arrived at Jasper yesterday afternoon and after sunbathing, the Duke went riding.

R. E. Cunney, manager of Jasper Park Lodge, said the Duke "picked a high-spirited horse and handled him well."

The Duke dined in the main dining room last night instead of in Point Cabin as had been expected. The orchestra played "There'll Always Be An England" as the Ducal party entered the dining room. A large crowd gathered as he left and applauded by hand clapping.

The Ducal party will remain here Tuesday and leave Wednesday morning by special train for Edmonton.

Smiling happily as they left St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, following their marriage Saturday afternoon are Sub-Lieut. John Oscar Laybourne Lake, R.C.N.R., and his bride, the former Phyllis Mary Maddock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Maddock, Gordon Head. Behind them are Miss Joyce Maddock, the bride's sister, and Sub-Lieut. Michael Robertson, R.C.N.R.

Canadian Nurses Asked For S. Africa Service

National defence headquarters has announced 300 Canadian nurses are being sought to volunteer for the South African military nursing service for work in South African military hospitals.

It is planned that the first group of nurses will be able to leave Canada for South Africa shortly, the announcement said. Under agreement between the Canadian and South African governments, the nurses to be recruited in the Dominion through district medical officers will wear the uniform of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps nursing service with South African badges.

Request for the 300 nurses came from the South African government to meet additional demands brought on by the war, defence headquarters said.

To qualify for enlistment a nurse must be a British subject, physically fit, a graduate of a recognized school of nursing and registered in her provincial nursing association.

Canadian nurses going to South Africa will sign on for one year's service with option of renewal. First class passage from Canada to South Africa and return will be provided.

The volunteers will receive the regular uniform allowance of $150 paid to nursing sisters of the R.C.A.M.C., but will get South African rank, pay and allowances. These details are available through the district medical officers.

Recruiting starts immediately. Lieut.-Col. Gordon Kenning is M.D. for M.D. 1, with headquarters at Work Point Barracks, and inquiries may be made through his office.

At a small reception held at the future home of the young couple, 912 Bank Street, the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Packford in a Queen's blue redingote ensemble with navy blue accessories, assisted by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Constance Bonner, Cobble Hill, in a blue flowered dress with a pink hat. Sweet peas and carnations composed the corsage bouquets. The rooms were decorated with gladioli and sweet peas, and the supper table was covered with a cut-work cloth and centred with the cake, which was flanked by vases of cosmos and gypsophila, and pink tapers in silver holders. For a honeymoon up-island the bride donned a beige coat over her wedding outfit.

WANTED one Philadelphia lawyer. Protest, protest—those got the protest. For those not in the know we refer to the current city box lacrosse playoffs. It now begins to look like a game cannot be played without the losing club filing a protest. First of all the Jokers drop a 21 to 7 decision to the Alerts and base a protest on the refereeing and win it. Three nights later the Alerts are nosed out by one goal and they follow it up with a protest.

It begins to look as if the lacrosse lads are just doing about everything they can do to hand the sport a first-class setback in the town. The fans are beginning to get awfully tired of all this bickering. After all games should be won on the playing floor not in the committee rooms. If teams cannot play a game without a protest following then something is awfully wrong. It is about time the boys got together and did a little house cleaning.

We remember back a few years when local amateur baseball was plagued with a flock of protests. The league officials soon put a stop to the squawking by making the protest fee so prohibitive the clubs would not take a chance of losing their money if they lost their argument. That might be a solution to the lacrosse people's difficulties. If a club wants to protest make it pay dearly for the privilege. Then there will be nothing but sound protests filed.

Had a talk today with Toots Sargison, usually quiet-mannered manager of the Alerts. How he has changed. "Sarge" gave us the low-down with a wicked gleam in his eye and his words breathing fire. "It was nothing but a dirty steal when they took that 21 to 7 game away from us," he said. "It looks to me as if certain parties would like to see us drop out the same as we did last season, but we are going to fool them and stay right in there and finish the job."

Philip K. Wrigley is reported disgusted with baseball and ready to sell the Chicago Cubs. The trouble with Phil Wrigley has been that he has tried to run a baseball club like the chewing gum business. He stuffed the outfit with stuffed shirts instead of ball players.

He made more bad deals than any owner in history. Wrigley gave the St. Louis Cardinals $185,000 and Pitchers Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun and Outfielder Tuck Stainback for Jay Hanna Dean.

Because Dizzy Dean won from 18 to 30 games for the Red Birds for five years, Wrigley figured that at the price he should do the same thing for the Bruins.

Wrigley failed to take into consideration what everybody else knew—that O'Diz had a shoulder incurable for pitching.

William Wrigley Jr. was a violent fan. Phil Wrigley cares nothing about baseball. . . . has failed to attend a game at Wrigley Field for months at a stretch.

Phil Wrigley would have been vastly better off had he followed the plan of his father and placed a practical baseball man at the head of his organization. William Wrigley did that and Bill Veeck, one-time baseball writer, made him his first million in the game. . . . established attendance records that still stand.

Phil Wrigley didn't yet around to putting a sound baseball man out in front until this season, and Jim Galloway, also a former baseball writer, yet has to establish himself as such.

Galloway lost no time in making his first mistake. . . . letting Billy Herman go to the Brooklyn for a song and questionable material.

Larry MacPhail says that without Herman the Dodgers would now be as far out of first place as they are in front.

Galloway didn't help Jimmy Wilson in his first year as manager with the deal. The club got off badly. The customers soured on the 40-year-old hero of the 1940 world series.

Cubs lost $230,000 last season, and they declare the deficit will be $350,000 this trip. Wanting to dispose of property so valuable and selling it are two entirely different things, however, especially in these times.

By the way, whatever became of Jim Farley's plan to purchase the New York Yankees?

It Joe DiMaggio and the Yankees keep going, the Ruppert Estate won't have to sell them.

They'll be such a paying proposition that they'll cover that inheritance tax and all.

All in One Motion

Low Riggs' hand marks spot where Brooklyn third baseman was hit on face by foul tip. Umpire Bill Stewart calls it a strike as Catcher Clyde McCulloch of Cubs gets rid of mask and looks for ball. There it is, directly behind his right heel. Riggs was not seriously injured.

Five C's Win League Cricket

With five batsmen reaching doubles figures, Five C's beat Albions, 133 to 49, Saturday, to remain undefeated in league cricket this season.

A large crowd watched the match and a collection was taken for the benefit of Tom Hoggarth, hard-working groundsman at the Beacon Hill Park pitch.

C's batted first, collecting 133 runs. G. Payne batted 25, Quainton 19, Mowbray 16, Comley 16 and Attwell 21.

Albions' innings was started on the wrong foot. First two batters were dismissed with duck eggs. Only batter to do anything was Smith, who scored 21 runs.

Churchmen's bowlers, J. Payne and Twamley, turned in fine performances. Twamley took seven wickets for 26 runs and Payne two for 17 runs.

Leading bowler for Albions was Smith, who took five wickets for 27 runs.

DEAN HIT HARD

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Dizzy Dean, once a great pitcher, was touched for 10 hits and four runs Sunday in four innings of an exhibition game against an amateur team of Wisconsin-Minnesota Baseball League all-stars.

Dean started on the mound for the La Crosse team of the Wisconsin State Pro League. La Crosse lost 7 to 6. Dean was not the losing hurler.

TEXAN CAPTURES U.S. SKEET TITLE

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—C. H. Poulton of San Antonio, Tex., won the United States all-gauge skeet championship yesterday at the seventh annual tournament in a shoot-off with Alex Kerr, 28, of Beverly Hills, Calif., after both had broken 250 straight targets in the regular race. Kerr missed his 155th extra target but Poulton ran his string to 425.

Blind Angler Wins Derby

Roy Thompson Tops

Roy Thompson, blind fisherman from Calgary, who holds the distinction of having weighed in the largest fish in the history of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, yesterday won the annual Chinook Club derby, with a salmon that tipped the scales at 29½ pounds.

Back in 1932 Thompson caught a salmon that weighed 53½ pounds, and that record has never been topped. Visiting the city on vacation he decided to take in yesterday's derby, and was the guest of Doc Smith, fishing from the latter's launch.

"It was certainly nice to come back and show the boys I still know how to catch salmon," Thompson said at the close of the derby. "My only trouble will be to make my friends in Calgary believe me when I tell them about my prowess with rod and reel."

Thompson headed a field of the city's finest anglers, the entry being made up of 100 who have landed button fish since the association was organized. The Alberta resident was presented with the handsome console radio as first prize, and also took possession of the Sylvester U-Drive perpetual trophy, up for competition the first time.

Second prize, a cedar chest, went to George Thompson with a fish weighing 21 pounds 2 ounces. Frank Ireland was third with a 20-pound 14-ounce spring and won himself a new rod and reel.

Other prizewinners were as follows: 4, pair of blankets, Frank Moore, 19½ pounds; 5, waffle iron, Mrs. George I. Warren, 18 pounds 10 ounces; 6, electric clock, Fred Willey, 16½ pounds; 7, casserole, Roy Smith, 16½ pounds; 8, tackle box, Fred Smith, 13 pounds 14 ounces.

The consolation award of a portable radio went to Harry Kramer.

At the conclusion of fishing at 4 in the afternoon, Alan Pendray presented the prizes in the Anchorage grounds.

The next competition of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will be the big international event at Brentwood on Sunday, August 24.

Selection of the referee to handle the forthcoming return bout between Vic Murdoch, Victoria, and Jackie Turner, Vancouver, holder of the Canadian amateur flyweight championship, will be made at a meeting of the Victoria Amateur Boxing Club tonight.

Several names are up for consideration and quite a lot of interest is being taken in just who will be the third man in the ring. In the first bout between the boys here several weeks ago Murdoch was awarded the decision.

Number of supporting bouts have been lined up, with out-of-town scrappers matched with local talent. In the semi-wind-up the ever-popular Teddy Gray will battle Ted Ramsey, New Westminster. Bill Potter will tangle with Red Metcalfe, North Vancouver, while Jimmy Dumont, Port Alberni, will step against Bob Clements of the Navy.

Murdoch has already gone into serious training for the fight, which will be held at the Crystal Garden. The first bout will get started at 8.

Misty Isle and Alsab Winners

CHICAGO (AP)—Alsab, a bargain colt which Alberta Sabath, Chicago attorney, purchased a year ago for $700, and Misty Isle, three-year-old filly owned by Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia, ran to smashing victories before 20,000 at Washington Park Saturday.

Misty Isle carried 114 pounds to a new track record of 1:49 3-5 in winning the $5,000 added Sheridan Handicap. Alsab toted top weight of 126 pounds to triumph in the $2,500 added Juvenile Stakes, to equal Flying Streak's track record time of 1:05 for the five and a half furlongs.

Misty Isle finished a length and a quarter ahead of Bushwacker, which was three-quarters of a length in front of Equinox. A nose farther back was Viscosity. The winner, ridden by Jockey Alfred Snider, earned $4,450 and returned $116.00 $4.60 and $3.60.

Brooklyn Clings to Three-point Margin

Baseball Clubs Resume Playoff

Pitzer and Nex and Tillicum Athletics will resume their city baseball playoffs tonight at Athletic Park at 6:15. Opening game of the best-of-three series went to Pitzer and Nex 16 to 8. A win tonight will put them into the final of the Rithet Cup series against the Eagles.

Saturday saw Victoria's All-Stars register a double victory over the visiting Port Angeles club to win the Hart Cup international series. The locals took the first game 5 to 4, and the second clash by a similar score over 11 innings.

In the marathon evening game, Ray Casey, local first baseman, was the hero, smashing out a three-base hit in the last of the 11th, to score Jack Stratton with the clinching run. It marked the finish of one of the most interesting games played at the park this season.

Stan Davies opened on the mound for Victoria, but was chased in the third, after the visitors got to him for four runs. Lorne Murray took over and hurled scoreless ball for the remainder of the way. Victoria had scored two runs in the second and one in the third and managed to sneak across the tying score in the eighth. Don Loghry started for Port Angeles and pitched nice ball until the eighth, when he was banished from the game by Umpire Tommy Restall, after taking a punch at the official. Loghry was protesting a close call at the plate, which resulted in Victoria tying the score. He was replaced by Bob Schmuck, who hurled the afternoon game. Victoria collected 16 hits off the pair, while Port Angeles got eight. Casey was the big stickler with four for six.

Five big runs scored in the third was Victoria's margin of victory in the afternoon game. Port Angeles came back with one in the fourth and three in the eighth, but just could not get back on even terms. Ritchie Nicol hurled seven innings for Victoria when he was chased in favor of Russ Richardson. S. c. h. m. u. c. h. pitched the nine innings for Port Angeles. Victoria collected five hits and the visitors six.

At the close of the night game. Bill Cull, president of the Victoria Baseball Association, presented the Hart Trophy to Joe Casey, manager of the All-Stars.

Amphitheatre Stakes Victor

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The Whitneys, famous family of sportsmen and sports women, nearly made a family affair of America's most sporting horse race Saturday as Mrs. Charles S. Payson's Amphitheatre won the 39th running of the Saratoga Special.

Amphitheatre captured the entire $11,250 purse by beating Shut Out, owned by Mrs. Payson's mother, Mrs. Payne Whitney.

Buster, carrying the colors of John Hay 'Jock' Whitney, brother of the winning owner, finished fourth, trailing a length behind Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Black Raider.

Amphitheatre won by three lengths in the winner-take-all test for two-year-olds after Samuel D. Riddle's War Hazard put in a claim for the three-year-old filly championship by winning the 62nd Alabama Stakes and a pot of $8,975.

Amphitheatre ran the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5, fastest time of the meeting.

The first and second horses were coupled as an entry and paid $4.10 for $2 in the mutuels.

CALGARY OPEN GOLF

CALGARY (CP)—Johnny Aitken, professional at the Inglewood Club, took a two stroke lead during the first half of the city open golf championship yesterday by shooting a 36-hole score of 134, six under par. During the morning his card was 67 and he repeated the performance in the afternoon.

Alfie Pow was second with 136 and Billy Hudson, Brownson pro, and Bert Greer were tied for third place with 137's.

Sweep Pair As Cardinals Capture Two

Drama being somewhat outside this department's scope, there will be no effort made here today to tell you in glowing phrases of the history-making National League pennant race now in progress.

The drama, instead, will be left in the hands of the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals while this will serve as a simple recitation of the facts.

The facts are these—last Friday night Brooklyn was in front by the knife-edge of three percentage points. Since then each team has played three games. Yet today those three points are all that separate the Dodgers in first place from the Cardinals in second.

This was achieved by a chain of circumstances which first saw Boston Braves snap a seven-game Dodger winning streak Saturday, and the Cardinals promptly lost a 13-inning thriller to Pittsburgh Pirates. Then yesterday there was a double victory for Brooklyn over the Braves, whereupon the Cards, already having won the first game of their doubleheader from Pittsburgh, broke loose with three runs in the eighth inning of the nightcap to take that as well.

The Dodgers, in making their record nine victories in their last 10 starts, used widely divergent means. In the first game, which almost broke out into open warfare because the Dodgers felt Dick Erickson was trying to dust them off, the Brooklyn pounded three pitchers for 17 hits, including four doubles and a homer by Ducky Medwick, one of the dustees, for a 14 to 4 decision. The nightcap saw stout Frederick Fitzsimmons and his knuckleball shut out the Braves 4 to 0 on six hits.

GREAT PITCHING

Close-to-the-vest pitching was the winning prescription for the Cards. A crowd of 26,513, one of the year's largest in St. Louis, saw Ernie White take the opener, 3 to 2 for his 14th decision as Terry Moore's pinch single drove in the deciding runs, and then watched Mort Cooper, though touched for 10 safeties, bear down in the clutch to win his 10th of the year and third since the operation on his salary arm by a 4 to 2 score.

The baseball tradition that it's bad luck to get presents held true for Chicago Cubs' Charley Root. The 42-year-old veteran got a station wagon from his fans, a $1,600 cheque from his club and even a baby pig. But when he settled down to work he got a 3 to 1 trimming from Cincinnati Reds, whose Johnny Vander Meer was in seven-hit form.

New York Giants ran the last-place Phillies' losing streak to eight in a row by winning the first game of their double bill 5 to 4, getting four of those runs on homers. But then the Terrymen, riding a three-game victory string that was their longest since June, rode it to a fall as veteran Si Johnson turned them back 4 to 3 in the tiepiece.

In the American League New York Yankees, though they didn't hit any homers, took two from Philadelphia Athletics, 11 to 2 and 4 to 1, and thereby climbed back into the stratosphere of a 14-game lead over Cleveland. The Indians, of course, helped things along by bowing to Ted Lyons and Thornton Lee of Chicago White Sox, who held them to six hits apiece.

Winning Authors Will Come Here

OTTAWA (CP)—Plans for the 20th national convention of the Canadian Authors' Association to be held August 21-26 in Vancouver and Victoria have been completed, Mrs. Madge MacBeth, national president, said.

"The business of the author in wartime," said Mrs. MacBeth, "will hold the attention of the convention and a program embracing many sides of literary craft will include speeches by authors, publishers and journalists."

The founder, Dr. John Murray Gibbon, Montreal, once winner of the Governor-General's literary award, will address the convention.

Medals to the three literary award winners for 1940, E. J. Pratt, Toronto, winner in the poetry class for the second time with his book "Brenth and His Brethren"; Dr. Philippe Pantheon, Montreal, fiction, "Thirty Acres"; and J. F. C. Wright, Saskatoon, general literature, "Slave Bohu," will be presented by Dr. Gibbon.

National Income Up 11.5% in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's national income increased 11.5 per cent in the first six months this year compared with the same period of 1940 and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said the increase reflected the "sustained industrial stimulus of the war."

National income in the period under review totaled $2,557,000,000 compared with $2,292,000,000 in the first six months of 1940, the bureau said.

Index of physical volume of business for the first half of 1941 was 129.2, representing an increase of 12.9 per cent over the same period last year.

Highlighting individual increases was the advance noted in awarding of construction contracts, which rose from $124,400,000 to $215,500,000 for a 71.8 per cent increase.

Exports and imports showed identical gains of 10.1 per cent and the manufacturing production index was up 11 per cent.

Index of industrial production stood at 141.5 for a 12.3 per cent advance, while wholesale prices at 86.8 were up 5.1 per cent. Mineral production posted a minor advance, rising 2.2 per cent to 126.5.

FINED $100 FOR SUPPLYING LIQUOR

NANAIMO—Convicted of supplying liquor to two Nanaimo Indians, Norman Johnny and Peter Good, Samuel McMurray, truck driver of South Wellington, was fined $100 and $250 costs or in default one month in jail.

"This is a serious offence," said the court. "If the accused was not an elderly man I would give him jail and hard labor."

According to evidence, Peter Good had been at McMurray's house before and had taken Johnny to the place on the night in question to purchase one dozen bottles of beer for $3. They drank part of it on the local reserve, then came into town. Police noticed the condition of the Indians, searched their car and confiscated four bottles of beer.

Jazz for Parades?

Victoria bandmasters challenge the prediction that military bands soon will be playing popular pieces instead of martial music.

The forecast was made in Ottawa by Captain Eric Kinney of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, when he took over command of recruiting stations at the capital.

Commenting on the suggestion, Bandmaster W. A. Tutte, of the R.C.A.F. band at Patricia Bay, said: "I favor bright martial music and modern adaptations of the old classics, but I don't mean jazz. I think bright military music is more suitable to the times."

Said another bandmaster: "When anyone hears the Hut Sut Song his first reaction is to fox trot. We'd have our soldiers gyrating down the streets like jitterbugs."

NANAIMO PIONEER

NANAIMO—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Benton, 86, pioneer resident, who died at her home Saturday.

Born in Brothwell, Yorkshire, Mrs. Benton was a prominent member of the Ladies' Aid of Halliburton Street United Church.

She is survived by three sons, Bramley Benton, chief of the Nanaimo fire department; George Benton, Vancouver, and Ralph Benton, Burnaby; three daughters, Mrs. F. Dawson, Mrs. J. D. Galloway and Mrs. A. T. Oliver, all of Nanaimo.

Government Money Savers? There Are Such Creatures

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—With all the millions and billions of dollars being appropriated and thrown around Washington these days, it is good medicine, every now and then, to take a run over to the department of the government which seems to get a big kick out of saving a few thousand dollars here and there.

This, known as the Treasury Procurement division, does most of the miscellaneous buying for all the government agencies, excepting only the defence purchases and what the Department of Agriculture buys of surplus commodities.

Just the other day, for instance, the Procurement division announced that it had saved the government $11,000 on snake bite kits. Now at first thought you might imagine that the only need the government had for snake bite kits would be to administer when publicans bit Democrats and vice versa, or when New Dealers bit businessmen and vice versa. But that isn't the situation at all.

The Departments of Agriculture and Interior have field agents and forest rangers, and then there's the Border Patrol, all of whom frequently run into real rattlesnakes, copperheads or gila monsters and have to take steps. Heretofore, there have been no standard specifications for snake bite kits, and the prices have varied. But the specifications division of the Procurement division got all the boys together recently, got them to agree on a standard kit, and by making purchases in quantity, saved Uncle Sam the 11 grand.

SILKLESS TYPEWRITER RIBBONS

This matter of standardization of specifications on nondefence purchases is what the Procurement division is working on all the time, now, and it's bringing results. The drive for simplification has been indirectly spurred on by the defence program, for in the desire to get civilian manufacturing down to as few lines as possible, in order to switch productive capacity over to defence items, corners have to be cut.

The OPM crowd got Treasury Procurement interested in this work, and now all government agencies have to submit their purchase orders to this division for analysis, simplification and check.

The thing even gets down to fights over typewriter ribbons. There are specifications, it seems, and then there are alternate specifications. Your normal, peace-time typewriter ribbon is a special, finely woven silk with over 300 threads to the inch. There's a shortage of these fine weaves, however, because of the demand for balloon silk. So the government has adopted alternate specifications in which they take a coarser weave in the typewriter ribbons. Soldiers who go up in balloons should think of the hardships they work on government clerks, because of this, whenever sky-riding.

Incidentally, the government used over 1,000,000 typewriter ribbons last year. And still more incidentally, the government used 9,000,000 pencils, 94,000,000 sheets of carbon paper and 180,000,000 paper clips. As that's nearly a paper clip and a half for every man, woman and child in the country, it can be taken that maybe this is what holds the democracy together. Linked end to end, they should stop the German invasion. Maybe, also, it explains the steel shortage.

TALE OF SURREALIST TILE

Purchase of all this stuff, right down to the mops and pails the scrub ladies use on the marble corridors, is conducted not from the Treasury, but from the Procurement division's own building over on the other side of the railroad tracks in southwest Washington. It's well off the tourist path, but it's a sight to see, nonetheless. It's a kind of half-office, half-warehouse building, presided over by Director Clifton E. Mack.

On one floor, you walk along a corridor till you come to a room where you think the architect must have gone nuts. The room is tiled, but with every kind of tile ever heard of, and no two square feet are alike. Nobody works in the room, for it would drive even a psychoanalyst screwy in two seconds. But whenever the Procurement division has to buy tile, they take the salesmen to this Dali room and say, "Give us a price on No. 67."

ALL BIDDING IN THE OPEN

Bids on government orders are opened every morning in the famous bid room, No. 798. It has a mail box of the street-corner variety at the back, and sharply at 10 a.m., the two men in charge of the room start opening bids and reading over a loud speaker system the offers submitted by competitors for government business. The room seats about 100 people, and the salesmen and trade-paper reporters are usually on hand. Public reading of the bids is required by law, but before the contracts are let, they are tabulated by the contract and purchases section, which makes the awards.

Not all the savings of the Procurement division are measured in chicken feed. They saved 1,000,000 bucks last year, on a $5,000,000 order of fixtures for defence housing, but nobody paid much attention to it.

Over All Lines

Labor-saving device on the desk of an office worker at the City Hall: A sign saying, "Good Morning."

Scientists who have investigated the much-talked-of death rays aren't worrying about them a great deal. They're going to be impracticable in this war, at least, the experts say, and possibly for the next 50 years.

With gasless Sundays already here, we may have heatless Mondays, sugarless Tuesdays, and meatless other days before it is over. With reference to the first, there's a booklet called "52 Ways to Conserve Fuel for Defence." A few excerpts give an idea of the significance of the facts it presents. A three-sixteenths of an inch deposit of soot or fly ash on a coal-burning furnace boiler will cause a 69 per cent fuel loss.

An eighth of an inch of soot on any furnace is equal to two inches of solid concrete in preventing heat from being absorbed into the heating plant.

Don't get the bad habit of trying to regulate the fire by opening and shutting the asphalt door. Don't punch holes in the fire constantly. Watch the temperature in your home.

It takes 9 per cent more fuel to heat a home to 78 than to 72 degrees.

Shoelace Blamed In Indian Death

Tommy Frank, an Indian living at Nahun, a steamer landing on the west side of Okanagan Lake in the Osoyoos district, was killed yesterday when a log fell from a truck and crushed his head. Frank was standing beside the truck and had bent down to tie a shoelace when the accident occurred.

Power

'Air Training Has No Limit'

OTTAWA (CP)—Air supremacy wherever the enemy may be encountered is the essential prelude to ultimate victory, Air Minister Power told Canadians in a Sunday night radio address.

He said the R.C.A.F. through the British Commonwealth air training plan will be called upon for an ever-increasing proportion of the total Empire strength in the air.

"We may reach one-third of all the Empire men in the air," he said. "We may reach one-half. We are not proposing to limit ourselves."

"Air strength in fighters and bombers—and more air strength—is the need of the moment," he said.

"This can be accomplished by aircraft production and air manpower. With respect to the former, the British factories are turning out uncounted numbers of aircraft, and the great American industrial machine is just getting into its stride."

"The American army air corps with the Royal Air Force are seeing to it that a steady stream of aircraft are being ferried over the Atlantic. There will be no more bottlenecks in airplane production."

It had been decided to man Canadian squadrons fully with Canadian ground crews as well as air crews, he added.

"All categories will, therefore, have an opportunity of proceeding overseas," he said.

Major Palmer said he was not starting a recruiting campaign. The air force in the past had received more applications than could be handled with available facilities.

Build Swim Pool At Glinz Lake

Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A., arrived Saturday after closing the annual "Y" Camp Thunderbird at Glinz Lake. The last group of boys to stay there this year returned to the city on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Shoemaker said that this summer's holiday for Victoria boys in the Sooke Hills was as successful as any held during past seasons. The camp opened on July 14 and for two weeks was a holiday spot for boys from 12 to 17 years, and from July 29 to August 7 for junior boys, ages 10 to 12.

Last Wednesday the board of directors of the "Y" and the camp committee visited the lake and surveyed the camp and the work being done there. The project this year was the building of a shallow swimming pool at the estuary of the outlet stream of Glinz Lake to be used in future summer seasons to teach young campers how to swim. The average depth of construction is three feet.

Three United States contenders E. L. Skeel and Jack Ballinger of Seattle and V. T. Tustin of Spokane, with scores of 79, were leading the qualifying round of the 19th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at Oak Bay today at 1.30.

Ballinger, a former grand champion, was out in 38 and back in 41; Skeel used up 37 strokes on the first nine and 42 on the second while Tustin had nine-hole scores of 40 and 39.

Capt. J. V. Perks, secretary, announced the tournament had drawn the splendid entry of 173, including 117 from out-of-town. The veterans will open match play in the grand and class championships tomorrow with the finals set for Friday morning.

A pair of Portland veterans, D. R. Munro and A. E. McIntosh, were one stroke off the three leaders with scores of 80.

Frank Thomas, holder of the city men's amateur championship, posted an 87, while another former seniors' champion, B. P. Schwengers, of this city, was close to the leaders with an 83.

The 16 low scorers in today's medal will qualify for the grand championship.

Dr. J. P. Loudon, Yakima, last year's winner of the championship, is defending his crown.

Board Restricts Quality of Paper

Action taken by the wartime prices and trade board in Ottawa last week to ban multi-colored and double bread wrappers and sale of sliced bread, effective today, has been supplemented by an order restricting the extent of the imprinting and the weight and quality of the wrapping paper.

Henceforth, the board ordered, the highest quality paper permitted for bread wrappers is either unfilled white sulphite or a brown kraft of standard shade or shades. This paper is not to weigh more than 20 pounds, dry weight, 24 inches by 36 inches basis for the 480-sheet ream, and not more than 32 pounds on the same basis when waxed. The wrapper must not be treated in any way for opacity.

Printing on bread wrappers must be in a single color, in standard type design, and must not cover more than 25 per cent of the surface.

While these regulations are effective today, bakers are authorized to use stocks of wrappers on hand or those now in process of being printed. Stocks of filled white sulphite paper in possession of the bread wrapper manufacturers, or ready for delivery to these firms by paper manufacturers on orders placed prior to August 8, may also be utilized.

Plates currently used for imprinting wrappers which do not involve printing in more than one color and the imprint of which does not exceed 25 per cent of the surface coverage are also permitted under the new order even though they may not be designed in standard type.

Pair Dumped From Canoe in Rip, Saved

A man and woman, whose names could not be learned, were rescued from drowning in the tide rips off Jewemey Jones Island near Ten Mile Point by Capt. F. R. N. D. Robertson, vice-commander of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, last night.

Capt. Robertson heard cries for help as he was bringing his yacht Iola into Cadboro Bay at dusk. A man and woman in an exhausted state were pitching about in the choppy sea in a canoe with a broken paddle.

The yacht was navigated along side and the couple taken aboard. Wrapped in blankets, they were taken to the yacht club.

Capt. Robertson said he and his crew were too busy to get the names of the couple.

VISITOR INJURED

Bad cuts about the face were suffered by Miss Paula Merrix of Oakland, California, when her head went through the windshield of a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Mabel Merrix, when it struck a telephone pole at Cadboro Bay and Cranmore Roads at noon today.

Mrs. Merrix was bruised and shaken up and was taken to Jubilee Hospital with her daughter in a C. and C. ambulance. They were attended by Dr. Lloyd Bassett.

Constable Frank Covey of Oak Bay police reported Mrs. Merrix apparently lost control of the car when she looked behind at a pet Pekinese dog in the back seat of the car which she and her daughter had just taken to a veterinary.

The car was traveling east on Cadboro Bay Road and was damaged considerably.

400 Fur Coats On Display at The Bay

London is now the fashion centre of the world, says Alexander Penn, personal representative of the fur manufacturing industry's biggest firm, C. J. Ross & Co., who arrived in Victoria yesterday after a record trip from London with a special shipment of furs for the British Fur Trade Exports Group's exhibit now being shown at the Hudson's Bay Company's store.

"London has been the fur fashion centre since 1934, when the Nazis entered Leipzig. Now, with fugitive Viennese and Parisian designers gathering in London and using their knowledge and experience, London is leading the world in styles, and colors in all fashions, Mr. Penn said.

He traveled to Victoria to bring a special shipment of furs, replacing some that were lost crossing the Atlantic. He traveled by freighter to Trinidad, taking a plane to Miami, New York and Montreal, and flying across Canada to Victoria. His firm, with a group of other British fur companies, is sponsoring a campaign to make Canadian women fur conscious.

Mr. Penn believes Canadian women are far too practical in regard to their furs.

"They wear the same coat morning, afternoon and evening. No European women, before the war, or American women today, would do that. The market today offers many dyed furs that make up into smart styles for all occasions at reasonable prices," Mr. Penn said.

In the display are over 400 coats, with every known kind of fur in multitudes of styles. They reveal the expert cutting and piecing of the Viennese, an art that Canadian manufacturers admit they cannot duplicate.

The display, which will take the form of an informal salon, will be shown at the Hudson's Bay store every afternoon this week.

Tonight at 8 in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, E. E. Richards will speak on the topic "What's in the Wind?" in which he will discuss the probability of a meeting between Prime Minister Churchill and the President of the United States, querying "Are Big Things Under Way?" The situation in the Atlantic, the Pacific and in Europe will be dealt with on the screen with lantern slides.

Tomorrow at 6.30 the Victoria section Associated Radio Technicians of B.C. will meet at the "Cat 'n Fiddle" cafe.

WAGE BONUS HERE TO BE CONSIDERED

Cost of living bonuses for provincial civil servants are expected to follow the federal government's decision to pay bonuses to its employees.

The government here, it was learned today, has been withholding any decision on the bonus question pending action by Ottawa. Some consideration was given the matter when bonuses were first suggested several weeks ago, but no action was taken.

Announcement from Ottawa that the federal government intends to make bonus payments clears the way for provincial action, it was explained. The government here has been keeping a close watch on the month-to-month cost of living index, and there is an indication the B.C. increase may be slightly greater than the national average.

Final decision on the civil service bonuses probably will await receipt of details on the federal plan. The bonus scheme, as contrasted to outright wage increases, is seen as a means of preventing an inflationary tendency.

No Wise 'Quacks'

Constable Alex Briggs of the city police was the butt of many wise "quacks" today following his experience with a duck on the loose yesterday.

The constable was at work at the police station on Fisgard Street when to his ears came the noise of barnyard chatter.

On investigating he found a white duck in the middle of the road at Douglas and Fisgard Streets telling all, in a loud tone of voice, that he was a free duck.

"We can't have this going on," the officer said to himself and went after the quacker.

After many trying moments he succeeded in driving the waddling bird, which voiced objections in "no uncertain terms, into the jail yard.

Cornered, the duck continued its "you can't do this to me" quackings and the policeman was getting to the point where some hair-tearing would have been in order.

To the rescue came Constable Dick Berry who suggested he put the bird in a box and take it home until it was calmed.

He got the bird and today was hoping the owner might have forgotten about it.

"We've become quite attached to the critter," he said, "even though it is still rather talkative. 'Christmas isn't far off, either,'" he remarked.

Week-end Fires

City firemen fought grass fires on Suffolk Street at 6.12 Sunday evening and at Beacon Hill near Heywood Avenue at 7.10. There were fires Saturday at Beacon Hill Park, at the old jail grounds on Topaz Ave., and at 1048 Johnson Street.

Today they extinguished a grass fire at Pembroke and Quadra Streets at 10 and a fire in a house at 582 Hillside Avenue at 10.30. Fire in the house was believed to have started from a small stove. Several pieces of furniture were destroyed.

Oak Bay department put out a grass fire in the 2100 block on Lansdowne Road at 3.25 Saturday. Sunday grass fires were at Estevan Avenue and Cadboro Bay Road at 3.13; Florence Street and Cadboro Bay Road at 3.15; Uplands and Cardigan Street at 7.50. At 4.15 this morning the department put out a large beach fire at the foot of Rutland Road.

Housing Project For Prince Rupert

The provincial government has turned over 20 provincial lots at Prince Rupert to Wartime Housing Incorporated to be used as building sites for housing accommodation for shipbuilding workers, it was announced today.

Wartime Housing Inc. is the corporation set up by the Dominion government to provide housing in areas where war work has created a shortage.

The Prince Rupert deal is the forerunner of the first such project, it is understood, although no details are available here.

Graydon T. Parmenter, who has been on the coast some time investigating the housing situation in centres where war industries are in progress, conducted the negotiations with the provincial government. The provincial government turned over the sites free.

The deal aroused speculation as to possibility of a similar housing project in Victoria, but there has been no definite indication of it yet.

Miss Betty Starr, 129 Beach Drive, complained to city police Saturday that the driver of a car which struck her while she was crossing Humboldt Street at Douglas Street, did not stop to see if she was hurt.

Gift House Winner In Victoria

George H. Davey of Twin Bridges, Montana, holder of the lucky ticket on the Scottish gift house, paid Victoria a flying visit today to get his first glimpse of the five-room $5,000 bungalow on Despard Avenue for which 60,000 raffle tickets were sold by the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Scottish Regiment.

Mr. Davey expressed delight with the house to Mrs. Rupert Guthrie, chairman of the contest, who met him here.

He left this afternoon for Seattle, where he will meet his wife. They will return Friday to view the house. He said he would make no decision on what he would do with it until his wife had seen it.

Mr. Davey is president of the Orphans' Home in Twin Bridges.

SAILOR ON LEAVE GIVEN RELEASE

Held in custody since last Wednesday when he was arrested for dangerous driving, Jeremiah Blyth of Coombs, was released from jail today when Magistrate H. C. Hall sentenced him in City Police Court to six days. The sentence dated from the time of his arrest.

Blyth, a sailor on leave from arduous active service, stepped from the prisoner's dock a free man even though he had just been sentenced. His driver's license was suspended for six months.

The charge to which he pleaded guilty arose from a car accident on Gorge Road last Wednesday night in which a car he was driving collided head-on with a car driven by Robert Wall, 3049 Earl Grey Avenue. Wall received a fractured skull and chest injuries.

Represented by W. H. M. Hal-dane, the sailor asked for leniency in sentence because of the fact he was on 28 days leave from service at sea and would have to leave soon to resume his duties.

Cars driven by H. Paver, 1428 Denman Street, and Low Chong, 2516 Wark Street, were damaged Saturday afternoon when they collided at Douglas Street and Caledonia Avenue.

BOB CROSBY IN ARMY FARCE

Bob Crosby, leading man in "Rookies On Parade," now being shown at the Rio Theatre, has toured the north American continent with his orchestra, making many theatre appearances. Ruth Terry, who plays the romantic interest, graduated from musical comedies, as did Gertrude Nielsen, the "girl with the lush contralto voice." Eddie Foy Jr. is not only a former Broadway star himself, but is the son of Eddie Foy Sr., one of the most famous comedians of all times.

Others in the picture with various amounts of stage training are Marie Wilson, Sidney Blackmer, Horace McMahon and Cliff Nazarro.

'Devil Dogs of Air' To Be Shown

Warner Bros. acted in accordance with popular trends in bringing back to the screen the James Cagney—Pat O'Brien starrer of a few seasons ago "Devil Dogs of the Air," starring tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre. The picture is much more important and is much more powerful when seen in the light of present day events than when it was first released.

Cagney has never given a better performance than his portrayal of a fresh youth who joins the marines because he can't keep out of air ships. He gets into the aviation corps through Pat O'Brien whom he rewards by stealing his girl.

Letters to the Editor

THE CASE OF DR. LOWRIE

My husband, Dr. Howard A. Lowrie, while carrying on his practice at his office was arrested here in Toronto on Friday, May 23, under the Defence of Canada regulations, by R.C.M.P. officers. I was not informed of the charges made by the R.C.M.P., but left completely in the dark. When apprehended, Dr. Lowrie was ill and I was assured he would be sent to Christie Street Hospital for medical care. An official of the R.C.M.P. made an appointment for me to visit my husband there and under escort of two R.C.M.P. officers I went, only to learn he had never been admitted. Instead he was held at Lansdowne barracks. After this futile trip I had but 15 minutes with my husband before he was removed to an internment camp, and I have not been allowed to visit him since.

Absolutely no provision has been made for the welfare of myself and my children. This to me is a persecution. The internment of my husband destroyed his practice and left me with no income. My husband is not a criminal. He was and is a true democrat whose chief interest was in the welfare of his many patients and his fellow men. His 15 years with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and many years of work with various benefit societies is only one indication that he was a humanitarian. His many patients, especially among the blind and among the poor he so unselfishly served, will suffer by his removal, particularly those who may be seriously ill.

He is Canadian born, educated in Canadian schools and graduated from the University of Toronto. He has practiced medicine in this city for 20 years and has been on the staff of St. Michael's Hospital during that time. I feel his arrest, and internment is a gross miscarriage of justice. It is hardly the kind of democracy our men are fighting for in Europe. Great indignation and resentment have been aroused by his arrest and naturally many protests have been made and will be made to the Department of Justice.

I wish to appeal to all persons who are interested in the maintenance of British justice to protest this arbitrary and totally unwarranted arrest, and to demand the release of my husband or at least his open trial at which he can fairly defend himself as in every man's inalienable right in free country.

I and my children, as well as his hundreds of patients, will be more than grateful to all those who will stand by our democracy in this case.

MRS. H. A. LOWRIE,
6 Humewood Drive, Toronto.

ENSLAVING B.C. FARMERS

The Marketing Act has had a good trial since its institution in 1935, and it has operated in such a manner that it has practically reduced the farmers to the status of slaves. They invested their money and labor in the soil, but they are compelled to surrender the fruit of their labor to be controlled, the money for the goods sold also subject to be controlled. They are not allowed to distribute their own goods, neither are they permitted to carry them in their own trucks. In order to enhance the market price the farmers are compelled to leave hundreds of tons of potatoes on the field; thousands of crates of good lettuce went to waste. This was done in Vancouver under constant threat or prosecution with pains of fines and imprisonment to the farmer. Such wanton destruction of essential food in this wartime is a crime.

The evil of marketing control was aggravated by the fact that those in control of farmers' goods, assuming no monetary risk, often recklessly abusing the powers of the act, and always can find excuses to justify their actions; but to the farmers, there is no compensation for their losses. When the farmers fail to comply with all the red tap their goods would be seized and prosecuted. It is small wonder when a case was brought before Justice Murphy July 8, 1936, His Lordship said: "This is a trespass; to go out on highways and stop people is a trespass. The question of irreparable damage does not enter into it." In another case in the Richmond Police Court Magistrate Darling called these methods "legalized highway robbery," and this decision was immediately upheld by Justice Manson in the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

In short, the Marketing Act has been inaugurated with good intentions, but it has failed. It has developed into an instrument for autocratic officialdom holding back abundance of food from the consumer, creating a condition of extreme servitude for the farmers who are now escaping this harsh condition by leaving the farms.

P. H. STEPHEN,
North Saanich Farmer.

EVOLUTION APPROVED BY BIBLE

To give credit where credit is due, the evolutionist in seeking to explain the process of evolution has performed a wonderful service. The fruit of his work has proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that one species actually did give birth to a higher species, and so on all the way up. The chain of evidence, mark you, proves this beyond all doubt, as the "Encyclopedia Britannica" states: "There is not the least doubt as to the fact of evolution." It only remains to have an understanding why a species for once made that remarkable departure and brought forth not its own but rather instead a higher species. This is where the Bible comes in, "Divine selection," etc. ("Natural selection") unquestionably accounts for variation which, however, is a totally different thing than the production of a new species.)

No doubt it comes somewhat in the nature of a surprise to not a few evolutionists as well as "fundamentalists" (so-called) that it is to the Bible one must go to find the solution to this seemingly puzzling and perplexing problem.

Probably because the evolutionist has had it dinned into him that evolution and the Scriptures are as wide apart as the poles, accounts for the fact that the authority of the Scriptures on the subject have been overlooked. Also because "natural selection" and other theories have been absorbing the attention, all of which have not only dimly failed as the solution but served as well to divert recognition of the fact that the solution has all the time been recorded in the Scripture of truth about the last place sceptics in both the evolutionist and self-styled "fundamentalist" camps would expect it to be found.

KNOWLEDGE

My good father was a British-Israelite or something. Anyway, he knew all about the Chosen Race, the Lost Ten Tribes, Gog and Magog, and good whisky. However, apart from all these great qualifications he was a good civil engineer to the city of Christchurch, N.Z.

When the writer came home from school, where he learned much from the teacher, a Master of Arts, Oxon., and began explaining to his father just how the milk got into the coconut, his answer would be: "My boy, too much learning hath made thee mad."

Polack Circus Thrills Crowds

Elephant, lions, dogs, horses, trapeze artists and clowns attracted 2,000 Victorians to the Willows Horse Show Building on Saturday night for the first evening performance of the Polack Bros. circus in its four-day stay in the city. Brought here by the Gizeh Temple Shrine Band, the net proceeds from the show will go to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

The show will be repeated to-night and on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, with a matinee on the last-named date. Five hundred people were turned away from the doors as early as 8 o'clock, as youngsters and adults thronged to Victoria's first circus of the year. It lasted three hours, a mixture of laughs, thrills and music.

Kiddies and adults held their breath as Felix Morales, Mexican balance and acrobat artist, slid down a 100-foot sloping steel cable while balanced on his head, as Senorita La Teresita swung on trapeze 50 feet in the air, making daring heel catches on the trapeze bar and as one of the Aerial Comet partners stood on his hands at the top of a swaying steel pole 90 feet in the air, his feet touching the roof of the building.

The Shrine band accompanied. The clowns, Eugene Randow and Company, filled in between acts and did a feature comic acrobatic turn, "Aunt Jemima and Her Pancakes."

Miss Betty Hilton conducted the first display of the program with eight trick terrier dogs, who jumped over hurdles, walked in a chain on their hind legs, leapt through hoops and balanced on a rolling cylinder. She also directed Mona, the performing elephant. Mona lumbered around one of the three rings keeping time to waltz music, turned circles on a small pedestal, walked along a narrow plank and knelt over her female master without touching her.

John White put a troupe of performing Spitz dogs through their paces and also five greyhounds. The high-leaping greyhounds ran up a table four feet off the ground and then leapt over a barrier another six feet high.

Captain Noble Hamiter, youngest wild animal trainer in the world, snapped his whip over five lions and lionesses in a large cage. The animals played on a sea-saw, stood on their haunches, rolled on barrels and one lioness let the trainer ride on her back around the cage.

Carlos and Etta Carreon, Argentine horse trainers, each astride a well-groomed black animal, showed their ability in the "High School Horses Event." The horses high stepped, kept time to rhumba music, and Carlos' steed, at the end of the act, put on a drunk show with his master. The same trainer, later in the program, handled "General Grant," the wonder horse, who marched to the band music, stood on his hind legs, curtsied and trotted and walked through a row of obstacles. Near the end of the show Carreon put six black horses through their paces in the "Black Horse Troupe Event."

Miss Iva Phillips, "the girl on the silver whirl," turned circles in the rafters of the building on a ladder trapeze, Felix Morales turned 51 consecutive somersaults on a bounding table or tambo-line, and all the acrobats did one display together on all the apparatus that had been erected in the building.

Local Man Passes Underwriters' Test

Harold Brynjolfsson of the Victoria branch of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada was successful in the first-year examination of the Institute of Chartered Life Underwriters of Canada, it was announced today in Toronto.

Examinations were held last April. Thirty-one insurance men passed the third-year examination, gaining the right to use the title and designation Chartered Life Underwriter of Canada.

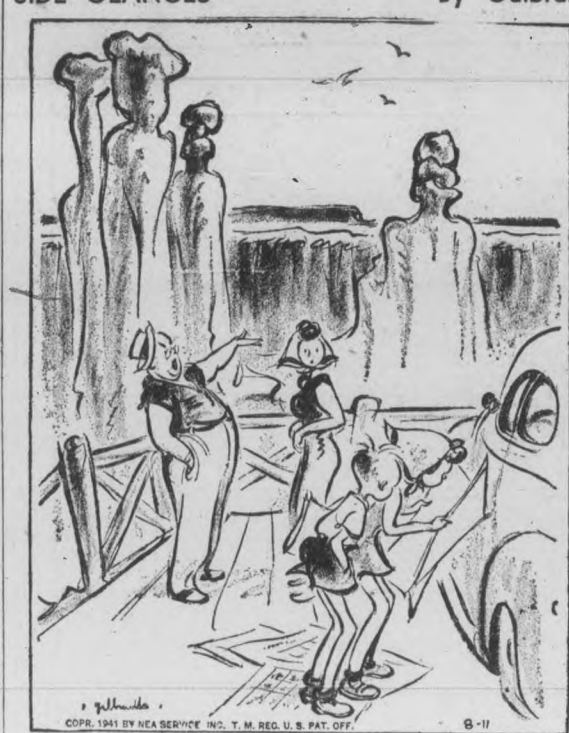

To gain this right, first and second-year examinations must be written first. Sixty-five other insurance men of Canada were successful in the first-year examination along with Mr. Brynjolfsson. There was only one other British Columbia man on the list. He was John P. Armstrong, Vancouver, of the Prudential Insurance Company of America.

Two Vancouver men passed the third-year examination. They were John R. Arnold of the Northern Life Assurance Company, and Stanley Marsh of the London Life Insurance Company.

The Chinese dragon is sometimes explained as having the "nine resemblances": deer horns, camel head, devil eyes, snake neck, sea serpent body, carp scales, hawk claws, tiger paws and ox ears.

REPORTED KILLED SOLDIER RETURNS

The first American reported killed with the Canadian forces overseas is now in Victoria, the report that he was a war casualty being an error. He is Harry Wilson of Los Angeles, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. F. Woodburn, 650 Langford Street.

Wilson was reported by newspapers and radio in both the Old Country and this continent as having been killed in action in Norway around April 25, 1940 with a British expeditionary force. He reports that he never got as far as Norway although he was waiting with his unit ready to sail, the order to proceed being canceled at the last moment.

He fought with the International Brigade during the Spanish Civil War and was decorated there for bravery. He said that while there this now famous brigade met German and Italian forces on many occasions, always defeating the latter, but having less luck with the Nazis. He returned to Los Angeles a few months before the world conflict started and when war was declared in September, 1939, came to Canada and joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in this city. His cousin, Ray Woodburn of Victoria, was in this unit. He went overseas with the first Canadian Division.

He was returned to Victoria as a result of injuries suffered this spring when he was blown off a motorcycle by a German bomb that landed nearby.

Kovacs Blasts Sabin in Final

RYE, N.Y. (AP) — Frank Kovacs, who can play superb tennis when he wants to, was at his best yesterday and won the eastern United States grass court singles championship by whipping Wayne Sabin of Reno, Nev., 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 before a gallery estimated at 2,000 at the Westchester Country Club.

The Oakland, Cal., star scored 54 points on placements alone and he hits with power that demoralized his opponent.

Kovacs' triumph gave California a sweep of the eastern singles titles, for top-seeded Pauline Betz of Los Angeles took the women's championship in a gruelling three-set final against Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York, 2-6, 8-6, 7-5.

The men's doubles title went to national champions Jack Kramer of Los Angeles and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Cal., who defeated Bobby Riggs of Clinton, S.C., and Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 9-7, 9-7, 6-2.

Bloody Battle

Prison Break Fails 5 Killed, 3 Hurt

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Warden Jess Dunn of Oklahoma state prison, two convicts and a county jailer were slain in a bloody bid for liberty yesterday by four long term prisoners who shot the warden, held as a hostage when officers closed in.

J. H. Fentress, a telephone engineer, who was seized with Dunn, was stabbed, a prison guard was shot in the shoulder and the fourth fellow was wounded when Deputy Sheriff Bill Alexander and two other officers trapped the fugitives at the edge of town a short time after the break.

DESPERATE

The other dead were Tab Ford, county jailer, who was shot in the head when the convicts answered commands to surrender with a blaze of fire from guns which they forced guards to throw down from the wall, and these convicts:

Claude Beavers, 39, leader of a 23-man break from the prison in 1936, who was serving life for the slaying of a guard in that escape attempt.

Roy Magee, 37, who was doing 15 years for armed robbery. Bill Anderson, 36, under 27-year sentence for armed robbery, and who also figured in the 1936 break, was at first believed dead of bullet wounds when examined by the prison physician, but it was announced later that "a spark of life remained." Bullets struck him in the liver and colon. His condition was described as "very, very critical."

The engineer suffered wounds inflicted by prison-made dirks after the convicts had shot Dunn in the head and stabbed him in the back. Bob Pollock, a prison guard, was shot in the shoulder in the exchange of shots with the fugitives.

The fourth convict, Hiram Prather, 33, serving life for murder, was caught in the cross-fire and wounded when he leaped from the fugitives' car, with his hands up.

As the cars came to a stop Alexander heard Warden Dunn tell his captors:

"Please use your heads, boys. You'd better give up."

While one convict shot the warden in the head, another stabbed him in the back. The one wielding the knife then turned on Fentress.

Rosarians Will Dedicate Garden

Rosarians of the Portland Rose Festival will invade Victoria next Saturday to see Victoria flowers, dedicate a garden and stage a ceremony in Beacon Hill Park at which three Victorians will be made Knights of the Rose.

Arrangements are being made to entertain the Rosarians with a program as interesting as those members of the Victoria City Council and other citizens have enjoyed when they have visited Portland for the Rose Festival.

On arrival, the Portlanders will be met by aldermen and escorted to their hotel by Nellie Small's Pipe Band. The rose garden in which roses are named for members of the government and the council will be dedicated in Beacon Hill Park in the afternoon. The flower show at the Crystal Garden will be visited. A dinner will be given to the Rosarians' Prime Minister, members of his cabinet and their wives. The Rosarians will also see Retreat at the Parliament Buildings and a Beacon Hill Park concert, including dancing on the green.

100,000 Troops Move To Defend Puget Sound

FORT LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — The waters of Puget Sound are reported mined today as the greatest peacetime army ever assembled on the Pacific Coast, prepared to repel a mythical invader.

In a strange mixture of the actual and the assumed, the army—which will total 100,000 men before the manoeuvres are completed—prepared for defence simultaneously of the rugged Olympic peninsula, the rocky, strewn Washington coastline and the more level stretches of the southern part of the state. By August 15, fully 100,000 men, 15,000 pieces of motorized equipment and heavy ordnance and many hundreds of horses and mules will be on the battlelines.

On paved roads and flat terrain in the southern half of the state, army officials will use the latest motorized equipment to meet expected blitzkrieg thrusts. But in the peninsula, horses, mules and mountain pack artillery are expected to bear the brunt of the defence.

War Output Speeded By Sub-contracting

MONTREAL — Subcontracting of war orders, highly developed in England under the term "bits and pieces," and coming to the fore in the United States under the term "farming-out," is becoming a factor in speeding Canadian industrial production of war supplies. Farming-out, or subcontracting, brings into use reserves of idle equipment, including that sometimes to be found away from the congested areas of population. As the war is increasing the burden on the country's manufacturing facilities this expedient of utilizing small units of production will be resorted to more and more.

Example of subcontracting is seen in the substantial volume of business now being handled by the machine shops of the Canadian pulp and paper mills. These shops in normal times are operated to maintain machines and equipment at the mills. However, this only requires about 48 hours a week—leaving machine tools free for other work for some 96 hours in a six-day week.

Since one of the delays in output of war supplies today is caused by lack of machine tools, the pulp and paper industry decided to mobilize its machine-shop facilities and place all available time at the disposal of war work. A special committee of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association known as the Wartime Machine Shop Board was formed to co-ordinate the different mills' shops and allocate orders where possible. The result has been highly successful. Working through the board several primary producers have been able to let subcontracts, on certain portions of their orders, to the pulp and paper machine shops, thereby speeding completion of the job and easing the strain in their own plants.

This plan of farming-out and utilizing all possible machine tools available is well regarded in Ottawa. Authorities have expressed the hope that machine shops throughout Canada will strive to utilize their facilities to the utmost in this way by making their tools available to handle subcontracts from the heavy armament industries. The Canadian pulp and paper industry has also instituted a training plan, whereby workers in the mills are able to secure short practical training in machine shop work. The mills have already supplied a large number of skilled workers to war industries. The training plan will enable the mills to create a reserve of trained men to fill the places of those who have been transferred to other plants engaged solely on war work.

The pulp and paper industry is Canada's largest employer of labor and the constructive steps being taken to utilize all machine tools and to train skilled workers are regarded as making a definite contribution to the war effort of the Dominion.
